400 Nazi Towns, Villages Fall To Russ Drive Into Junker Land

Second Invasion Of Prussia From North Threatens

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian penetration of German territory to a depth of at least 19 miles in East Prussia was proclaimed today in the first Moscow announcement of a powerful Red Army offensive that already has captured 400 German towns and villages.

Summarizing results of a thrust from western Lithuania that the Germans have been reporting for a week, a Russian communique said Gen. Cherniakhovsky's 3rd White Russian Army had broken through frontier defences on an 87-mile front on the east.

Gen. Bagramian's 1st Baltic Army cleared the way to spring into the homeland of the Junkers from the north—and may already have done so.

The Soviet bulletin announced Bagramian's troops had occupied all of Memel territory except the port of Memel itself, where the German garrison was cut off and had massed along the Niemen River, East Prussia's northern border, from the Baltic to Jurbarkas in Lithuania.

Cherniakhovsky's offensive, which gave the Russians a solid footing on German soil for the first time, drove directly westward on each side of the main highway and rail routes from Kaunas, Lithuania, to Insterburg and Koenigsberg. Insterburg, a hub of five railways 37 miles from the border, appeared the immediate strategical prize.

Col. Andreev, Soviet news agency military correspondent, was quoted by the Moscow radio as saying "The Red Army's advance along the railways leading to Koenigsberg and to Loetzen (40 miles south of Insterburg, in the Masurian Lakes region) has created a grave threat to the left flank of the German forces."

"At the same time the emergence of our units on the Baltic coast, in conjunction with the Soviet naval units in the Baltic, secures the right flank of our own armies," he said.

BOMB OWN SOIL

LONDON (CP-Reuter) — German fighter-bombers attacked localities in the Gumbinnen area Monday, the German D.N.B. news agency said today.

This is believed the first instance of German planes bombing east Prussian territory.

Bond Sales On First Day Top 6th Loan Record Here

By noon today Vancouver Island had subscribed $593,900 on its quota of $9,685,000 for the 7th Victory Loan, it was announced from loan headquarters. Reports from all units show that more money has been subscribed than on the first day of the sixth loan.

Two sub-units have already gone over the top. Sooke has exceeded its quota and is still going strong. Galiano has gone over its quota of $6,000 by 25 per cent, and there is still more coming in.

Greater Victoria subscriptions amounted to $285,750, against an objective of $6,180,000. Saanich, Esquimalt, Gulf Islands and rural areas reported $31,050, with a quota of $855,000.

Figures for the island follow:

	Quota	Subscriptions
Greater Victoria	$6,180,000	$285,750
Saanich, Esquimalt, Rural and Gulf Isl.	855,000	31,100
Duncan-Cowichan	725,000	28,250
Courtenay-Comox	540,000	22,050
Nanaimo	610,000	98,200
Alberni, Port Alice and West Coast	885,000	18,150
Ladysmith	150,000	90,400
Total	$9,685,000	$593,900

The special names section of the National War Finance Committee for the Vancouver Island division announced receipt of the following large subscriptions to the loan, and say that these compare very favorably to the response received in other loans:

British Columbia Cement Co., $200,000; Pacific Salvage Co., $100,000; Pacific Towing Co., $50,000; McLennan, McFeely & Prior, $75,000; Victoria Phoenix Brewing Co., $50,000; Corporation of Township of Esquimalt, $39,500.

From other points in the province comes information of sub-units over the top in addition to Nakusp, which now has $55,750 subscribed on a quota of $35,000, and Parksville-Qualicum with $77,650 subscribed on a quota of $70,000. Powell River has reached $25,150, topping its quota by $1,150, and Stillwater has $4,900 subscribed, which puts it over the top by $400.

Large applications have given the drive a big boost with 43 orders totaling $7,425,000 placed on the first day, exclusive of the $7,000,000 announced by Premier Hart and the $9,175,000 announced at Trail, which have not been officially recorded yet.

British Liberate Almost Half Greece

ROME (AP) British patrols of the Allied land force in Greece occupied Lamia, approximately 93 miles northwest of Athens, and have pushed north of the town, Allied headquarters announced today.

British forces now have liberated almost half of Greece.

Patrols today were pushing along the main Thermopylae-Larissa road beyond Lamia and some reports put them at more than 100 miles beyond the capital.

Rhine Lights On

SOMEWHERE IN GERMANY (AP)—U.S. pilots have observed street lights turned on fully several nights recently in the Rhineland cities of Cologne, Duisburg and Duesseldorf.

There are a number of possible explanations: That the Germans were forced to put on lights to move heavy and urgent military traffic; that rioting or other trouble had broken out; that the lights were turned on by foreign "slave" workers acting as saboteurs.

May Ask Dr. McLeod, Dean Elliott To Meet Commission

Resentment was expressed by Police Commissioner Ald. Margaret D. Christie today over remarks of Dean Spencer H. Elliott supporting the stand taken by Rev. Dr. Hugh McLeod in a sermon Sunday criticizing Victoria's night life.

Her position and an expression of opinion by Commissioner Ald. B. J. Gadsden indicated a future meeting may be held to which Dean Elliott, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association, and Dr. McLeod will be invited.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, chairman, today voiced willingness to call another meeting if the other commissioners wished one or to consider the matter a dead issue if they so desired. The position of the police, he said, had been clearly defined at Monday's commission meeting.

"I certainly take exception to what Dean Elliott says," Ald. Christie stated. "I've tried to do the best I could."

"I don't feel the matter is settled yet," Ald. Gadsden said. "I'd like to consider the posibility of inviting Dr. McLeod and Dean Elliott to a meeting.

Dean Elliott's comment, which drew Ald. Christie's protest, was prefaced by a quotation of Mayor McGavin's to the effect scores of visitors and tourists complain at the dullness of Victoria's night life.

"The Christian opinion of the city," said Dean Elliott, "is solidly behind Dr. McLeod in this protest. Our question is: 'What kind of visitors do we wish to attract to Victoria?' Surely not the type of people who want this kind of thing.

"Another member of the commission says there is not enough staff for the job. Yet men of fine physique devote part of their time to placing chalk marks on the tires of citizens who have not even begun to infringe the smallest by-law. We hope that the members of the commission are going to tell us something better than these first remarks."

Questioned on church raffles, the dean said, none took place at Christ Church Cathedral.

New Landing By Yanks Reported In Philippines

Associated Press

U.S. invasion of Samar Island in the central Philippines was reported today in a front-line dispatch from Leyte Island to the Melbourne (Australia) Herald.

The dispatch, passed by military censors, said a tank column had been ferried across narrow San Juanico Strait from a point north of Tacloban, provisional capital of the Philippines on Leyte.

Establishment of a bridgehead on Samar at this point would put U.S. tanks alongside a road leading to within 15 miles of Luzon Island, on which Manila is situated. Samar, one of the largest Philippine islands, is separated from Luzon by San Bernardino Strait.

The report, unmentioned by other correspondents or in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique, coincided with Japanese radio reports of new sea-borne bombing raids on the Manila area.

On Leyte U.S. troops struggled through almost neck-deep slime, fought off vicious enemy counterattacks and pounded against stubbornly resisting Japanese to keep the advance moving on all sectors.

Already, MacArthur announced, his invasion forces have liberated 11 towns on Leyte and completed conquest of three small islands guarding the entrance to Leyte Gulf, where they landed a week ago.

On the narrow southern sector of the Leyte fighting, tanks rolled into the outskirts of San Pablo at the head of a seven-mile advance from the coastal town of Dulag. San Pablo is four miles from Burauen, western terminus of the southern valley highway.

Other forces moved northwestward to encircle strong, scattered enemy defences in the Catmon Hills. This was MacArthur's first mention of land action in the 14-mile gap between U.S. spearheads at Dulag and Palo.

Invading forces inched inland from Palo against strong resistance blocking the advance to the northern portion of the valley road. Flanking forces beat off a counterattack at high cost to the Japanese.

Republican Claim Of Revolt in Spain Denied By Madrid

LONDON (CP)—Conflicting reports of armed clashes in Spain reached London today and it was not yet clear whether the action involved only frontier skirmishes or an organized and formidable revolt against Gen. Franco's Falangist regime.

An authoritative source cautioned against overestimating the extent of the hostilities. Official quarters said they had no information confirming reports of a general uprising.

It was pointed out, however, that strong, well-equipped Maquis forces, including a high percentage of Spanish Republicans were in southwestern France near the Spanish border.

A responsible source stated it had not been learned how many of these Spanish Maquis had been crossing the border into Spain or to what extent they were in contact and collaborating with guerrilla forces of the Spanish Republican junta.

IN 3 PROVINCES

Spanish Republican headquarters here said the guerrillas were active in three major provinces of Spain—Galicia, in the northwest; Estremadura, in the southwest, and Andalusia in the south.

Franco's Spanish national radio told of clashes between regular Spanish troops guarding the frontier and "several groups of Spanish reds" from France, but sought to create the impression the situation was well in hand, with most of the rebels surrendering or fleeing back across the French border.

The German radio, while stressing the superiority of Franco's regular troops, said today that 4,000 "Reds" already had been killed in the frontier fighting—a rather high figure for the casualties of "several groups." A German report also mentioned that, while one Spanish village had been recaptured by Franco's men, the "Reds" still held three villages.

FRANCO'S VERSION

"In general," said a broadcast by the Spanish national radio, "it seems that the infiltration of Spanish Reds into Navarra can be considered over, as many of them are surrendering without arms."

NAZI TROPHIES TAKEN BY CANADIANS — Maj. J. J. D. Gagnon, Winnipeg, displays some of the weapons he has gathered as a scout in Belgium. One of a group of Canadians, he helped hold a captured German strong point on the Dutch frontier with the enemy less than 1,000 yards away.

German Anchor Bergen Op Zoom Seems Flanked

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON (AP) — British troops drove into the outskirts of the Netherlands road hub of s'Hertogenbosch today in one phase of a Canadian-British squeeze offensive against perhaps 40,000 German troops battling to hold southwestern Holland and to maintain a blockade of the great supply port of Antwerp.

An assault ring was shaping around s'Hertogenbosch, with the northernmost British column reaching the city. Scottish troops swinging up from the south cut the road leading to Eindhoven.

Nearly 50 miles to the west, Canadians cut off the causeway to the Schelde estuary islands, where enemy cannon block the sea route to Antwerp, and fought to within from three to five miles of the strongholds of Roosendaal and Bergen op Zoom.

A dispatch from Allied Supreme Headquarters in Paris said Canadian units fighting to clear the south bank of the Schelde estuary held the ferry port of Breskens firmly today and were along or across a road all the way to Schoondijke, three miles south of Breskens. The Germans have been squeezed into a pocket in that area.

An earlier dispatch had reported that the Canadians who took Breskens Sunday had withdrawn from the town and that a confused situation prevailed there.

FORT ABANDONED

Demolition patrols which moved a half-mile beyond Breskens to Fort Frederick-Hendrik withdrew, presumably leaving that bastion's powerful coastal batteries out of action. Neither side now occupies the fort, the Paris dispatch said.

Along the main 475-mile front facing east toward Germany persistent Allied pressure scored no major gains, and the winter's first widespread snow sharpened the plague of weather which has hampered the Allied armies for weeks.

Front reports indicated the Germans in the s'Hertogenbosch area were suffering from lack of artillery support. The British were using a powerful force of infantry, tanks and artillery.

Three British columns drove on the cathedral city and Dutch provincial capital. The northernmost one, having captured the village of Rosmalen, clawed its way westward into the outskirts of s'Hertogenbosch during early morning darkness. Two more columns slashed their way toward that communications hub and bastion of the Germans' west Holland line from the south and east.

NEAR ROOSENDAAL

To the west, Canadian troops neared Roosendaal in their drive to flank the German anchor of Bergen op Zoom. An Allied communique, reporting fresh crossings of the Dutch border north of Antwerp, announced new gains northward along the Antwerp-Roosendaal railway. The Paris radio said the Canadians were less than three miles from Roosendaal.

Artillery provided heavy support as the Canadians drove across the peninsula neck west of Woensdrecht. They cleared the area right to the banks of the East Schelde.

In the diminishing Schelde pocket bitter fighting continued in the area of Fort Frederik-Hendrik.

Allied Landings In Norway Rumored

LONDON (CP) — Recurring rumors of Allied landings in Norway have been heard in London for more than a month, but always without official confirmation, and a new outbreak of reports today was met by the same official silence both in London and Stockholm.

Communiques have reported an increase in Allied bombings of Norwegian sites used by the German forces in the occupied country.

Mrs. Rezansoff was sentenced for nude parading during Doukhobor demonstrations in Vancouver last May.

Harry P. Hodges Becomes Editor Of the Times

The Victoria Daily Times announces that Harry P. Hodges has been appointed editor-in-chief of this newspaper, succeeding Kenneth C. Drury, who has joined the editorial staff of the Vancouver News-Herald in a similar capacity.

Mr. Hodges came to the Times at the end of 1916 as Parliamentary reporter, becoming assistant editorial writer in 1919 under the editorship of the late B. C. Nicholas, on whose death in 1936 he became chief editorial writer. He was appointed associate editor in March, 1942. Prior to joining the Times he was for three and a half years editor and publisher of the Daily Inland Sentinel of Kamloops, B.C.

After completing his apprenticeship to the printing and publishing business in Austria and Germany, Mr. Hodges was for six and a half years deputy-works manager of the London and County Printing and Publishing Works (Avenue Press) Drury Lane, London, England. He came to Canada for his health in November, 1912.

First Day of 7th Victory Loan Sees $68,260,300 Collected

OTTAWA (CP) — A recapitulation today of Monday's first stage in Canada's $1,300,000,000 7th Victory Loan drive showed that the estimated $75,000,000 figure had not been reached and instead only $68,260,300 had been collected.

With early reports from the armed forces showing enthusiastic buying, loan officials had felt that the first day of the three-week campaign would at least equal if not exceed the first day of the 6th Loan, when a total of slightly above $74,276,000 was subscribed.

Of the day's total, $19,858,300 came from individual Canadians. This is approximately $14,000,000 below the daily average which must be maintained by individual purchases if their minimum objective of $600,000,000 is to be reached.

5TH LOAN RECALLED

"Too much emphasis should not be placed on the results of the first day's canvassing," a Victory Loan official stated today. "In the 5th Loan, for instance, our first day's total was approximately the same as in the present one, with the first day of the 6th Loan an all-time high. While, at the moment, the total of individuals is below what their daily average must be, we are certain they will equal the total they reached in the last loan."

Total sales for first day in Saskatchewan reached $1,875,050. In Regina Gail Patrick, screen star, made appeals for the loan to Regina audiences and workers in industrial plants.

At Halifax the loan got away to a flying start when five ships and three naval shore establishments in the Northwest Atlantic Command over-subscribed their objectives. A grand total of $350,500 in bonds was purchased by naval and civilian personnel of the command. East Coast Command of the Navy reported $350,000 on a quota of $2,700,000, while naval divisions reported an objective of $250,000 had been exceeded by $2,000.

Commodore E. R. Brock, commanding officer, said H.M.C.S. Chippawa, Winnipeg, had secured 200 per cent.

Throughout Edmonton various units of the three services were reported over the top before noon, while in British Columbia-Yukon the armed forces showed the way. Formally opened on Saturday, Vancouver's new naval establishment, H.M.C.S. Discovery, has 180 per cent of quota. A small army unit told of reaching 600 per cent.

SUCCESS IN FIELD

A cable was received in Vancouver from the officer commanding 6th Canadian Field Co., R.C.E., now in Belgium. It read: "7th Victory Loan bond target $7,000. Already sold $14,600 Best of luck your end."

Lethbridge, Alta., set what is believed to be a precedent on the first day of the loan by closing all liquor stores and beer parlors and, at the close of the canvass on the initial day of the drive, reported 323 subscriptions totaling $46,350. Calgary had 566 subscriptions for $271,150.

Two Southern Alberta units—Pincher Creek and Magrath—reported excellent results for the first day of the loan. Maintaining past records, Pincher Creek exceeded the $300,000 mark while Magrath passed $110,000.

The first bond in the C.N.R. division of Calgary was bought by Seaman J. C. "Jack" Rose, now on duty with the United States Navy at Pearl Harbor. Rose sent money to his parents at Calgary on his return to base from active operations.

U.S. Fight Cossacks On Western Front

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, PARIS (AP)—Furbedecked German and Russian cavalry men such as the U.S. troops met and defeated in Normandy are popping up again in the rough country of the Vosges, where terrain is most favorable to their operation.

The latest outfit identified in that sector is the 370th Cossack regiment, composed of 40 percent Germans and the rest Soviet political exiles.

They do not ordinarily fight on horseback but the troops are mounted to attain mobility in non-tank terrain. They gallop up to the attack, but leave their horses behind and go into actual combat action as infantry.

WILLIAM E. GOULD of Hilliers thinks the Duncan branch of the Canadian Legion will, on sober reflection, be a little ashamed of its attitude towards Zombies in refusing them the privilege of its clubrooms. "Towards the end of the last war," he writes, "there were many conscripts serving in France and I couldn't say they were any less efficient than the rest of us." He puts the blame on Ottawa. "They offered a plebiscite on the question at a cost of $1,500,000 and we voted our emphatic yes. Let them implement it," he says . . . Here's a chap running a campaign that probably won't make first base. Canadians in Italy Buy Victory Bonds

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY (CP)—Canadians in the Mediterranean theatre demonstrating their confidence in the Dominion in a military sense are staking her heavily for the postwar world, too, by digging deep into their pockets for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

A week-long Victory Bond campaign—the third in this theatre—reached 82 per cent of its $3,000,000 objective Sunday night and has been extended until Thursday to enable a few more units not yet reached to come in on the money wagon if they want to.

Thus far, 26,267 subscribers have tossed in $2,469,700.

Despite the fact that many already had assigned the maximum allowed by regulations, withholding only the monthly $10 personal money as required by the army, they profited by a special exemption order allowing $2.50 of this chargeable to Victory Bonds. They voluntarily cut themselves down to $7.50 a month pin-money.

Night Bombers Fly Through Snowstorm To Blast Essen

LONDON (CP)—Strong forces of German night fighters saved for defence of prize targets, swarmed up over Essen Monday night to challenge a fleet of 1,000 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers which attacked the great armament and railway centre in the heart of the Ruhr. Six R.A.F. and two Canadian planes were lost.

The bombers, which flew through the first heavy snowstorm of the season over the western front, also encountered the fiercest ground barrage they have met on their last seven trips to the Ruhr.

While the heavies were unloading their bombs at Essen a small force of fast Mosquitoes shot on across northern Germany and attacked Berlin.

Thick clouds began enveloping the bombers as they started across France and soon they were flying through a blinding snowstorm. It was not snowing at Essen, but the sky was so black that pathfinder planes had to circle the city repeatedly during the attack to lay color markers for the bombers.

Servicemen, Brides, Arrive in Canada

By the Canadian Press

From the war fronts of Europe and from the United Kingdom, groups of servicemen and war brides have arrived in Canada. For the servicemen, many of whom have been fighting four years, there is the thrill of going home, and for the war brides there is a new life in a strange new country.

A returning soldier bearing the D.S.O. was Maj. Jock McLean of Vernon, B.C., who fought with the Seaforth Highlanders in the Moro River battles in Italy.

With the two officers was Maj. Frank Hayter, M.C., of Alameda, Sask., a member of the R.C.A.M.C. Maj. Hayter had high praise for the Canadian nursing sisters, who, he said, were doing fine work under difficult conditions.

One of the men with Maj. McLean was Lieut. Ed Scrutton of Winnipeg, a paratrooper, who fought with the 1st Special Service Force of Canadians and U.S. troops at Anzio beachhead.

One of the war brides who arrived was Mrs. Thomas Hickman, who is going to live with her husband's parents in Winnipeg, until her husband, Cpl. Thomas Hickman, returns from the war.

Northern Tragedy Probed By R.C.M.P.

FORT SELKIRK, Y.T. (CP)—The coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Mary Isaac, an Indian girl, the wounding of her father and the discovery of the decomposed body of a white man, has adjourned until Nov. 3 pending further investigation by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

First reports of the tragedy in which Mary Isaac was shot to death were received a week ago when a white trapper, Oscar Adami, came here in a small gas boat from Kalzas Creek, 125 miles east.

Adami said the girl and her father, Tom, had been shot Oct. 13 at their home three miles from Kalzas Creek. Adami said he had learned of the shooting from Magdalene Isaac, wife of the injured man, who had been working her rabbit snare line at the time of the tragedy.

The mystery grew when officers, flown to the scene, found a waterlogged canoe while searching the bush on the banks of the river. A short distance away, Adami, acting as guide, came upon the decomposed body of a white man. Among the papers found on the body were a diary, a note to the police which was sealed in a can and a farewell letter presumably to a brother.

The diary mentioned that the man had passed the mouth of the MacMillan river July 31. The note to the police was written on the back of an Alaska highway map and was titled "Murder on the Pelly." The note, which was dated August 26, was signed "Peter." It asked an inquest into his death and said the writer and some Indians had been set upon by an unidentified man.

Labor Congress Votes Approval Of Family Allowances

By JACK WILLIAMS

TORONTO (CP) — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today reaffirmed its "no strike" pledge, made at the 1943 convention, and went on record as approving the principle of family allowances.

The "no strike" resolution was adopted by the delegates to the 60th annual convention of the congress without discussion.

300 RESOLUTIONS

The convention today started consideration of the more than 300 resolutions submitted by local unions, Ernest Ingles of London, Ont., reported recommendations of the resolutions committee.

On the question of family allowances there was a difference of opinion, with some speakers expressing a fear that such a measure might be used as a substitute for adequate wages.

In its resolution the convention approved in principle the payment of family allowances "while emphatically declaring that such allowances must not take the place of an adequate wage rate." A rider to the resolution added a recommendation that any family allowance scheme be kept under close scutiny by the congress to check any trend which might adversely effect efforts to achieve a proper wage level.

REFERENCE TO C.C.L.

In the resolution dealing with strikes reference was made to the stand taken by some other labor organizations.

(The Canadian Congress of Labor at its convention in Quebec last week turned down a demand from a section of the delegates for a straight "no strike" pledge. The convention committed itself to avoid strikes wherever possible.)

The resolution which received approval of the Trades and Labor Congress today said in its preamble:

"Through the columns of the press and through other agencies we learn of the activities of groups who would countenance renunciation of pledges of no strike policy for the duration of the emergency."

FULL CO-OPERATION

The resolution provided, "that we, in no uncertain terms restate our pledge of no strike for the duration of the emergency and assure our continued co-operation for the production of all supplies and sinews of war necessary to bring this deplorable war to a successful and victorious conclusion."

In another resolution the convention pledged full support to the armed forces until final victory is attained.

Sharp Reduction In Working Hours Urged

TORONTO (CP) — Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said Monday night before its convention here that he thought there would have to be a "drastic" reduction in working hours to absorb the 750,000 members of the armed forces and the 1,250,000 workers who have been engaged in war industry.

"There will have to be a six-hour day and a 30-hour week," he said. "There is no reason for long hours. Machines are doing the work and the people have a right to share in the benefits."

Asthma Suffering Stopped 7 Years
Seven Years ago J. Richards, 201 East 23rd Street, Hamilton, Ont., was asthmatic, lost weight, suffered coughing, choking, wheezing every night—couldn't sleep. Mendaco stopped his spasms promptly and he now reports normal weight and good health although 70 years old. To prove that Mendaco may do the same for you, we make this liberal trial offer: Get Mendaco from your druggist today! Unless it loosens and removes thick strangling mucus, brings free breathing, restful sleep and frees you from the suffering of Asthma attacks, simply return the empty package and get all your money back. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose so don't suffer another day without asking your druggist for Mendaco.

Capt. Tony Staples Captures 30 Nazis

Taking part in the grim battle last week-end to establish a toehold across the Savio River near Cesena on the Adriatic front in Italy was a Duncan officer, Capt. Tony Staples, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Staples, Norcross Road.

Capt. Staples, formerly well known in island tennis circles, led a company across the river in what was described by Canadian Press war correspondent Bill Boss as a right hook movement. Working the company down the west bank of the river, he took 30 prisoners.

Correspondent Boss described the Nazi resistance as close and said a torrential rain poured down Saturday night, doubling the depth of the river. The Canadian and German positions in the toehold west of the river were so close that concealment was impossible except by lying flat, face down in the mud, he wrote.

A section leader in Capt. Staple's company, Cpl. Saul Morris of Montreal, however, was able to bring 28 prisoners out of an encounter Saturday night before the river had risen. As the party approached the banks, the German officer heading the prisoner column stopped and protested he couldn't go farther, saying: "Mines."

Morris ordered him on. When Pte. Allan Sampson of Vancouver edged him with a bayonet, the officer got the point. He called a name, and the very German who had supervised the laying of the mines stepped forward and took the lead, guiding the party through the minefield.

Munitions Minister Tells How War Goods Will Be Disposed

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government will continue to operate the synthetic rubber plant at Sarnia, Ont., Munitions Minister Howe said Monday night over a Canadian radio network in which he described the operations of the Crown Assets Allocation Committee and the War Assets Corporation.

Where it is considered desirable in the best interests of the nation to continue such properties as the Sarnia rubber plant under government ownership and operation, they will continue to be so maintained and operated, he said.

The function of the Crown Assets Allocation Committee is to advise the minister on the broad international and intergovernmental aspects of the surplus disposal problem. It is charged also with receiving and recording all government property declared surplus by every department of government and of turning these surplusses over to the corporation for disposal.

"Upon the War Assets Corporation falls the difficult and intricate task of deciding how disposal of physical surpluses will be undertaken, of establishing the price structure of sales and channels through which the sales will be made within the broad policies agreed upon from time to time.

TO BE DESTROYED

"Because many war materials will have no peace-time value, the corporation must also decide what surpluses will have to be destroyed.'

J. B. Carswell of Montreal is president of the War Assets Corporation and Wilfrid Gagnon of Montreal is vice-president.

All sums received by the corporation from sales are reported to the Dominion Treasury and are placed to the credit of consolidated revenue.

"The jeep," said Mr. Howe, "was designed to perform certain specialized functions and to carry certain loads and, in the main, has replaced the motorcycle and side car so extensively used in the last Great War. This it does admirably. This does not mean it can be used economically for ordinary civilian purposes.

"However, the best possible advice for the best uses for jeeps, in their present form, will be sought before the jeep is offered for general public sale, and this advice will be made available to prospective users."

Rot Causing Loss In Aircraft Spruce

Dangers of various types of rots which affect Sitka spruce and have resulted in its elimination from aircraft manufacture following shipment to Britain were outlined by Ray Foster, Dominion Forest Pathological Laboratory, to members of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers, Victoria section, at a meeting in the Douglas Hotel Monday evening.

Several types of decay, Mr. Foster explained, were difficult to detect. In many shipments, logs and timbers were inspected prior to shipment and then loaded in the holds of large cargo vessels frequently under conditions ideal for the growth and spreading of certain rots.

Of a contagious nature, the condition often spread to solid timber and created defects which, revealed under careful mechanical inspection in Britain, resulted in scrapping of the product.

Lack of time and facilities prevented desirable kiln drying of all aircraft timber prior to shipment, he said.

Various diseases were illustrated by lantern slides by the speaker who also spoke of the value of pathological surveys being made in timber areas of the province.

A film of Tweedsmuir Park was shown by C. Lyons during the meeting over which E. E. Gregg presided.

Conspiracy Charges Remanded 1 Week

Charged with conspiring to defraud the Dominion government by falsifying traveling accounts, Frederick Rough, Bernard Howard and Clement H. Davies, civilian H.M.C. Dockyard employees, were remanded one week when they appeared in Esquimalt court Monday afternoon.

Counsel asked time to obtain particulars of the dates, places and documents involved in the indictments.

W. A. Brethour, counsel for Howard, asked crown witnesses be brought as soon as possible as he hoped to conclude the preliminary hearing in time to take the case to fall assizes, starting Nov. 6.

Invasion Veteran, Capt. Palmer Tells of 1st Battalion's Deeds

In a Seventh Victory Loan appeal, a Vancouver Island soldier, Capt. Douglas Palmer, 1st Bn., C.S.R., told Gyro Club members Monday of the Scottish battalion's preparations for D-Day, its share in establishment of a beachhead and fighting on to Caen until he, as others had already done, came down the line, the war, in the battle area, over for him.

Training for the invasion for a year, Capt. Palmer told the club, the battalion at last found itself isolated behind barbed wire, with only rations and meals coming into the encampment. The last few days were spent in briefing and poring over a huge relief map of the coast of France.

At last, the battalion embarked aboard a Landing Ship, Infantry, at Southampton, and was on its way. June 5, about midnight, the well-kept secret was no longer a secret, and they had been told the time and place of landing.

The day before, the airforce had roared over the invasion coast, dropping only small bombs so as not to damage the beaches too much for the invading troops. Two or three hours previous to the actual invasion, battleships slammed heavy salvoes into the Nazi positions, and destroyers sped in, guns barking death at point-blank range.

Sherman tanks, waterproofed against the sea, ploughed ashore under their own power, also fired point blank at the enemy, and rocket ships, resembling long barges, with rocket racks broadalong fired the deadly missiles which carried with them the destruction of a six-inch naval gun.

MINES AND OPPOSITION

Despite all this, there was stiff opposition, and mines in shallow waters blew landing craft out of the sea. The C.S.R. got through fairly safely, however. It was four days before it could be claimed a beachhead had been safely established.

This war, continued Capt. Palmer, there were no communication trenches estableshed and the battalion quickly dug slit trenches. In those trenches a soldier lived through the day, sleeping at night, and sometimes even eating in them.

A slit trench had to be about six feet long, wide enough for the soldier's shoulders. As for depth, a soldier had to be able to fire from a slit trench, but yet seek cover from enemy fire, and, if an enemy tank came on the scene, get down far enough so the tank could roll over the trench, leaving the soldier unharmed.

The Scottish were not in the major attack for some time, said the captain, but had to keep up the job of infantry, that of maintaining contact with the enemy, and send out patrols to secure prisoners and gain information.

An officer and two men had gone out one night to gain information concerning a nearby airdrome. Risky work, the officer was forced to crawl most of the way in the moonlight, even at one time crossing the enemy runways. Arriving back near his own lines as the day began to break, the officer was not satisfied he had gained all the information he wanted.

Posting a lookout to observe, he got to his feet and walked back to his own lines so the Germans might see him and fire at him, thus giving away their position! However, the Nazis did not fire.

DOGS AS OUTPOSTS

Capt. Palmer, on patrol himself, had occasion to run up against German shepherd dogs a number of times and was firmly convinced they were being used as enemy outposts, as during the hey-day of the Maginot Line.

All this, said Capt. Palmer, was leading up to the major attack, the taking of Caen. The Scottish task was to take a village forming a portion of Caen's outer fortifications.

July 9 they were in behind the high, stout wall of a French chateau, protection against enemy fire. Orders to move on came tardily, and, Capt. Palmer believed, that tardiness was the saving of the company, for, going forward on arrival of the orders, it was met by a barrage of "Moaning Minnies," which fell about 100 yards ahead of the advancing Scottish; falling where they might well have been had they received their orders on time.

Arriving at the forming-up point, Capt. Palmer said, they found they had to wait until another village had completed its mission. German fire became bad; 88-mm. and mortar shells coming over, and they dug into the difficult ground. No sooner had the soldiers completed their hard work, than the orders arrived to move on.

They had 1,000 yards to go. Artillery support, heavy and field, was excellent, and the position was taken, most of the Germans killed, but a few remaining to be taken prisoners.

Some of the Germans, who spoke English, complained bitterly about the action and said it wasn't fair, and the Canadians shouldn't have done what they did. Their complaint, according to Capt. Palmer, was the Scottish had not observed the rules in the book which said infantry should advance while remaining about 400 yards in the rear of the barrage. But, pointed out the officer, chances had to be taken, and the Scottish had been successful.

At one scene, Capt. Palmer told the club, he had been advancing with a body of men, and his job had been to send messages back. An explosion had put the radio out of commission and they had lost communication with the rear. A German Panther tank had attacked, guns belching, but one soldier stepped out, fired two shots from a Piat into the oncoming tank, and the Nazi machine burst into flames.

Then Allied tanks spotted the movement of the group and opened fire on the Scottish which they could not prevent by identifying themselves by radio. They tried white towels and other schemes to halt the fire, but 15 minutes passed before frantic work had put the radio back into commission and urgent messages of identification had put a halt to fire.

At last, Caen, and the Germans were across the river. "It was then I came down the line myself, and the war was over for me," said Capt. Palmer.

"I know you will go out and buy war bonds," the officer appealed to the club.

Overseas, he told the Gyros, the boys were proud their country, Canada, had gone over the top in previous loans, and were looking back to those at home to go over the top again.

The soldiers were going to need fighting material right up to the last moment, Capt. Palmer warned, and they had to have it to win. There could be no slackening until the war was over, and for some the war would never be over. For those who would be blind and for those who would not walk.

"They need everything they can lay their hands on, and they need it at the right time," he appealed. "Contact all the people you can, and give them this message for me."

Lions Head Discusses Service Clubs' Work

Work of Lions Clubs across Canada and the part men of all service clubs can play in the postwar world, were discussed by Dr. C. O. Lennox, a director of the International Association of Lions Clubs, in an address to Victoria Lions at Spencer's, Monday.

Dr. Lennox, who is on a tour of clubs of Western Canada, stressed particularly the British Child War Victims' Fund, which was instituted in St. Catherines, Ontario, and to which clubs across the country have made donations.

"We wanted to make the fund a national project for our organization and I think the largest single donation received was the $7,000 sent by the Victoria Club," he said. "To date $250,000 has been sent to England and been distributed by the Waifs and Strays' Society of England.

"It takes $120 a year to keep a child in one of the homes that have been established over there and we support 10 homes. When the war is over there will still be a call for funds for this work for children left homeless by the blitz will have to be taken care of for many years."

Through this project of Lions, Dr. Lennox said, Canadian clubs had been invited to establish Lions Cubs in England after the war.

Turning to the subject of Lionism in Ontario and Quebec, the speaker said that there were 122 clubs in the two provinces, with seven of the total in Quebec. The sum of $419,000 was raised for charitable purposes by the two provinces last year, he added. Service clubs are a potential source of leaders for the coming years, Dr. Lennox told the Victoria members as he stressed the wealth of natural resources in Canada and spoke of the future of the country. He told his audience that Great Britain had led the fight for freedom since the signing of the Magna Charta.

Judges Appointed

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of two Alberta judges to new offices and an Edmonton lawyer to a judicial post was announced Monday by Justice Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. Justice William Robinson Howson, now a judge of the Supreme Court of Alberta Appellate Division, is made Chief Justice of the Trial Division.

Mr. Justice William A. Macdonald of the Supreme Court Trial Division is appointed to the Appellate Division.

Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., of Edmonton, is appointed an appeal judge of the Trial Division.

2 Young Soldiers Seek War, Find It, Have Lots of Fun

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE CANADIANS IN NORTH ANTWERP (CP) — In the push to Esschen on this sector, two youthful Canadian dispatch riders went out with forward infantry looking for excitement and German souvenirs. They got both, and 49 German prisoners.

It was the best two-man prisoner haul of the new offensive, and credit for it goes to Sapper Dick (Shortly) Joy of Winnipeg, 20-year-old dispatch rider with a Royal Canadian Engineers' field squadron, and Pte. Leo Cervo of Vancouver, 22-year-old rider with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

Infantry were shooting their way up the highway to Esschen when these two men, who had never been in a real battle, decided to join in the fray. They hopped on one motorcycle and in a little village met some civilians who told them there were a couple of Germans in a nearby field.

With one Sten gun between them they went stalking for the Germans. First they found a wounded German, accompanied by another. They took them prisoner, and Joy got himself a Schmeisser and a revolver.

RUN INTO FIGHT

"We then hoofed it along a hedge which had slit trenches dug along it," said Joy. "In the first foxhole we picked up two more Jerries, and as Leo searched them I went on to the next holes.

In each of these there were Huns and they surrendered right away.

"These guys had rifles, trench mortars and machine guns, but never fired a shot. They just lay there in the trenches until we got them and then stuck up their hands. We soon had 47 of them. With the other two that gave us a real bag."

Here Cervo picked up the story. "After we had rounded them all up we came under fire from a farmhouse, where there was another bunch of Boches. Suddenly four Jerries jumped out of a hedge right in front of us. Shorty mowed down three with his Schmeisser and I got the other one with my Sten.

"Then things got too hot for us, but the Germans in the farmhouse were terrible shots and we got away. We took all our prisoners with us and marched them back into our lines."

Cervo has been with the army since April, 1941. Joy joined up when he was 15, but the authorities found out his real age. He was discharged and . . . joined up again.

John S. Byrom, 73, C.P.R. Pioneer, Dies

LATE J. S. BYROM

John S. Byrom, 73, retired catering superintendent of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamship Service, died early today at West Coast Hospital in Port Alberni, where he was taken when stricken at his summer home at Cameron Lake.

Since his retirement, Mr. Byrom, who lived at 1026 Craigdarroch Road, spent a great deal of his time at his Cameron Lake home.

Born in Jersey City, Feb. 10, 1871, Mr. Byrom came west as a young man, and in 1889 at Victoria joined the old Canadian Pacific Navigation Company as a ship's steward. Until 1901, when the B.C. Coast Service took over the C.P.N., he served on various old ships. In 1901 he came ashore here as port steward, remaining in that position until 1915, when he went to the C.P.R.'s Great Lakes service.

In 1916 he became general superintendent of C.P.R. dining cars at Montreal, and served a few years at Winnipeg before returning to this coast in 1919 to become acting general agent for the company at Juneau. In 1920 he became assistant to the marine superintendent at Vancouver, a position he held until his appointment as catering superintendent at Victoria in 1929. He retired July 1, 1937.

Photographic Salon At Empress Hotel

Poetry in black and white were the photographic studies, "A Winter's Eve" and "Anxious Waiting," which were but two of 170 selected prints shown at the annual Victoria Photographic Salon which opened Monday for one week in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel.

There were 104 contributors, some of them nationally-known from the United States and Canada and a number of Victoria photographic enthusiasts who submitted prints. Four hundred prints in all were submitted and selections were made by Rudolph Tietjens, president of the Seattle Photographic Society, J. Helders of Vancouver and R. L. Colby of Victoria.

Leafbared trees, snow-covered ground and a darkening sky were filmed by Louis Van Puyenbroeck, P.S.A., to produce the effective and lovely "A Winter's Eve."

His "Anxious Waiting" which pictured a woman and child standing in the rain, their figures lit by a pool of light from an overhanging street lamp, was reminiscent of Thomas Hardy's famous poem, "Beyond the Last Lamp." The light caught the rain and reflected on the wet cobble stones.

Dorothy Pratte's "A Morning in October" and Gordon White's "A Gallant Company" were outstanding photographs of nature scenes as was "Blossom Time." A touch of humor was Pedro Fernandez' "Sepia," in which he pictured a girl photographer developing a picture with a clothes-pin on her nose. "Into the Future," by John Beranek, "Reverie," by Dorothy Pratte and "Piqued," by H. R. Fisher, were studies of people which created much interest.

An unusual photographing of a modern building was "Controlled Rythm," by P. Bentley of Vancouver.

RECOGNITION AT LAST

ALL THE DEMOCRATIC WORLD WILL applaud the decision of Canada, Great Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union to grant full diplomatic recognition of the Provisional Government of France under the leadership of General Charles de Gaulle. This will bring to an end a long controversy which threatened at one time to produce a serious disturbance in the relations between the principal Allied nations. While no good purpose could be served by rehashing the differing views which have now been composed, President Roosevelt's announcement of Washington's final step during the week-end—from recognition of de Gaulle's de facto regime to its formal acceptance as the liberated country's provisional government in the full diplomatic sense—closed the long-protracted and sometimes heated debate.

Since the invasion of Normandy and the progressive steps which have resulted in driving the enemy from France, competent observers have discovered for themselves that the man who went to England and called upon his compatriots to continue fighting after Marshal Petain had asked the Germans for an armistice has the confidence and good will of the vast majority of the French people. Many Allied leaders, of course, and particularly Mr. Churchill and several of his colleagues, did not seriously question the truth of this belief. But for reasons which are still somewhat obscure the fact was slow to make its impress on Washington. With the decision of the four great Allies now a matter of record, however, the France of which the British Prime Minister has never despaired will now take her place in the councils of the United Nations and make a valuable contribution to the stabilizing of Europe after Germany has suffered the complete military defeat to which she is doomed.

One of the principal reasons advanced in support of the argument that the United Nations should make haste slowly in recognizing General de Gaulle's provisional administration was that the Allies had pledged themselves to give the French people unfettered freedom in the choice of the form of government, and that full and formal diplomatic recognition must wait, for example, the return of some 3,000,000 citizens detained in the Reich on all pretexts. Mr. Churchill did not take this view. He had suggested that the Algiers Consultative Assembly should be more broadly based and, indeed, unless recognition were to be postponed to a distant and indefinite date, this was all that could reasonably be asked.

Mr. Churchill's suggestion won the approval of General de Gaulle and his colleagues. The new assembly which is to meet on Nov. 7 will consist of 246 members, of whom 174 will represent the Resistance Movement at home or overseas. Sixty will represent those members of the 1939 French Parliament who refused to bow their knees to Baal, and 12 will represent North Africa. All will be chosen by indirect election and not one will be nominated by the government. And the government itself has been reconstituted. Direct municipal and departmental elections have been fixed for February. No swifter or fuller proof could be given that the authority which has now won its long-delayed recognition is representative.

THE LID IS OFF

PUBLIC RUMOR ABOUT ILLICIT PRACtices in this city is not new. Frequent police court cases have emphasized the existence of many of them. How much is going on that seems to escape the eagle eye of the law? What is the reason more alleged offenders are not brought to book?

These questions take on more than ordinary significance, and can no longer be evaded, because Dr. Hugh McLeod, in his sermon on Sunday evening, had the courage to stand up in his pulpit in First United Church and tell his congregation what he had seen with his own eyes. His text was: "I Take The Lid Off Victoria Night Life." And the removal of that lid certainly exposed an unsavory mess.

It would be unfair on our part to attempt to prejudge the case which Dr. McLeod has presented to the authorities at the city hall. We do not intend to do anything of the kind. It is to the point to remark, however, that this well-known and highly-respected minister of the gospel was not offering the flimsy and doubtful fabric of rumor. It is fitting, therefore, that the Police Commissioners should at once conduct a thorough investigation—all hearings of which, by the way, should be of a public nature—into the ugly collection of charges which must have shocked every decent citizen of this community.

In the meantime, the pastor of First United, if he had said no more, rendered a signal service by repeating what our people should be accepting as fact by this time—that "a major enemy of democracy is the apathy of the voters."

The system is wrong when honest people who need medical care can get by only by not paying the bill.

'WARE MISCHIEF MAKERS!

CURRENT CONTROVERSIES REGARDing war or peace provide fertile fields for the cultivation of ill-feeling. When such major objects are boiled with a presidential election in the United States and flavored with such highly peppery issues as the reconversion of industry and bargaining powers between A.F.L. and C.I.O. unions, the resulting stew sends that master mind of malice, the Herr Doktor Goebbels, into an ecstasy of effort to convince the German people that the war can yet be won by watchful waiting on the Rhine.

It is difficult enough to combine principle with practice and formulate a policy which can promote peace by discussion and reason instead of violence. But when to this difficulty there is added the determination of malice, disguised as sincerity, to take every possible advantage of any disagreement and stir discussion into dogma and reason into ranting, the Herr Doktor is well served by his spawn.

Our main objective after military victory is to prevent another war or, what comes to the same thing, to promote peace. It only confuses the issues to argue whether that war will be caused by economic, political, religious, or racial prejudices. Goebbels and his disciples will make full use of each of these causes to create dissension. Germany will try to promote another war whenever she is prepared and her opponents or prospective victims are disarmed by internal political or economic discontents or external indifference.

Therefore Poland must find a common ground to live in peace with Czechoslovakia, Lithuania, Esthonia and Romania, each evidently destined to come under the aegis of Russia and with their boundaries guaranteed by the "Big Four" against any aggresion, either by their common foe, Germany, or by one or the other seeking some advantage from within. They have one thing in their favor. The Soviet Union knows that to leave a germ to propagate future friction in any agreement is to play directly into the hands of the German War Corporation Unlimited.

Our current neighborly and domestic controversies can be similarly discussed and settled in an atmosphere of good will. They must not be the subject of aggressive dogmatic assertion nor of querulous discontent. Prejudices must not be mistaken for principles, nor mischief-making for conscientiousness.

THAT TWO-THIRDS RULE

ONE OF THE INTERESTING DEVELOPments in the election campaign in the United States is that 19 candidates for the Senate this year have committed themselves to vote for a constitutional amendment authorizing the ratification of treaties by and with the advice and consent of a majority of the upper chamber or of both Houses of Congress. All but two of the candidates favoring repeal of the two-thirds rule are Democrats. Being in the minority, the Republicans evidently are much less willing to relinquish power by which they can oppose or block a treaty that is not to their liking.

The Washington Post, however, does not think the prospects of a change in the constitution in this regard are as gloomy as the Republican attitude to the proposal suggests. It points out:

"Only five Senators confessed opposition to the proposed change. Fourteen replied that they have open minds on the subject or other views as to how the problem of treaty ratification should be met. Twenty-four Senators did not reply. While most of these may be presumed to oppose any change or at least to be lukewarm on the subject, some are doubtless also reserving judgment on the issue. On the whole, it seems to us that this survey is rather encouraging to those who hope to see the two-thirds rule in treaty-making abolished. Positive support is much greater than confirmed negative resistance. Considering the fact that one of the proposed amendments would detract from the power of the Senate over foreign policy, the number of negative replies seems remarkably small. It is well to remember, too, that no major campaign has been waged to build up public and congressional sentiment in favor of democratization of the two-thirds rule. An organized national drive to bring about this urgent reform could be expected to swing many doubtful Senators and candidates behind it."

What impresses us as outsiders, but intensely interested in how the United States Senate deals with the peace and other treaties, is that the people now know where many candidates stand on this issue. Few have forgotten how the two-thirds rule killed all hopes of our neighbor joining the first League of Nations.

UNSPONSORED RADIO

AS THE SINGING COMMERCIAL TIGHTens its hold and the commercial announcer becomes daily more insistently hearty, there comes news of possible relief in the future. A group of humanitarians has proposed three frequency-modulation channels after the war which would broadcast programs free from advertising. "Subscribing" listeners would support the venture at the fee of a nickel a day.

We do not object unduly to the radio commercial except as we look into the future. But the vista there rather overwhelms us. We foresee the singing commercial taking over the entire field of vocal music, with opera librettos written to the glory of Sudsy-Suds, and the praises of chewing gum or dog food sung to the music of Schubert or Stephen Foster. We envision the announcer molding the speech of a new generation until conversation becomes a thing of frenetic declamation, with pear-shaped tones replacing the soothing mumble. Maybe the nickel a day would be cheap.

U.S. AND THE LEAGUE

WASHINGTON.

THE GREAT DEBATE on the future of the United States in the world has been postponed by the presidential election since neither party desires to make an issue of it now, but it cannot be postponed much longer. This nation must soon decide not in general declarations but in binding legal commitments how far it will go in maintaining world peace under a system of collective security.

The first stage of the debate is opening here now and centres around the Dumbarton Oaks agreement. While both candidates are supporting it as a good beginning, the outcome of their agreement on general policy and the future of the Dumbarton Oaks charter itself are in complete doubt. Since the charter was announced, grave objections to some of its provisions have appeared in various quarters. The first reaction is the feeling of middle and small powers that the new League of Nations fails to give them representation commensurate with their responsibilities. This protest will become articulate and probably vigorous as soon as the election is over and foreign governments feel free to speak.

As the most important of the middle powers Canada will be in these discussions. The middle and small powers will certainly seek changes in the proposed charter to enable them to carry greater weight in the League Council, which alone will deal with problems of security. The United States government has emphasized that the agreement is tentative and subject to change after further discussion and the smaller nations will accept this invitation to propose amendments.

It will be difficult but not impossible to change the organic structure of the League which rests on the primacy of the three great powers and, by its veto provisions, enables any one of them to prevent League action anywhere at any time but which compels the smaller powers to enforce the council's decisions. But there is a possibility that the small powers will be given a larger chance to make their needs known in the council, especially when it is discussing disputes which concern them specifically. The present provision by which the council may call in a small nation which is involved in a dispute is not regarded by some of the small nations as adequate, and it is in this aspect of the agreement that real opportunity for amendment exists. If no amendment is made, it is believed here, there will be difficulty in securing ratification of the charter from some small nations. On the other hand, while the charter certainly gives the Big Three far more power than they ever enjoyed under the League of Nations, there is a general realization that no practical alternative is available

AS MR. ROOSEVELT said last Tuesday, however, the main thing is to get a league established and not to quarrel over details. All these arguments will soon burst into American politics. The two presidential candidates, seeking to avoid a clash on foreign policy now, have been unable to keep it out of the campaign altogether and in the last few days a most significant and sinister development has occurred.

Senator LaFollette, an old-time isolationist, has delivered a fierce attack on the new League plan on the ground that it is not democratic and is dominated by the Big Three. Thus we observe the interesting irony of the isolationists who killed the old League, because it was too internationalist, now preparing to kill the new one because it is not internationalist enough. LaFollette's statement can be accepted as the beginning of a campaign in the United States Senate which will fight the League charter step by step and in detail as the old Covenant was fought to death, not outright, but by the detailed process of reservation and amendment. As Mr. Roosevelt wants to create the League without delay the United States is already on the eve of this most important debate.

THE UNITED STATES Congress must take three steps to complete the League. First, ratification of the charter as finally fixed by an international conference next year. Second, a statute fixing the limits of the military resources which the nation will place under League control for peace enforcement. Third, a statute determining how far the United States delegate in the council can go in voting without the specific approval of Congress. The charter will be submitted to the Senate as a treaty and a third of the Senate can reject it.

PROTECTION FOR SHIPYARDS

From Vancouver Sun

The demand of the Canadian shipbuilding industry for what amounts to heavy tariff protection and subsidies after the war does not seem to appeal much to Canadian newspapers and will certainly encounter strong opposition in the Canadian Parliament. It is a plan directly opposed, of course, to the whole policy of the present government and the policy of the Progressive Conservative Party as laid down at its last convention. The C.C.F., essentially a party of self-containment, is the only logical home for schemes to bonus Canadian industries which cannot compete with similar industries elsewhere.

But the protectionist proposal comes with a strange irony from the shipping industry. Shipping depends on the movement of goods. If goods do not move there is no use for ships. If Canada cannot export and import on a huge basis after the war our ships will be idle, our sailormen on the beach.

If we want to trade we certainly cannot expect to carry all our goods in our own bottoms, and if we want to stay in the shipping world we must eventually meet the costs of our competitors.

If a newspaper colors the facts, people lose faith in it. Is a magazine that poses news pictures any more honest?

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The most important product of any war is the ensuing peace—a truth impressed on public consciousness by the Dumbarton Oaks conference to plan for a world organization to outlaw armed conflict.

Enduring peace is the star to which we want to hitch our chariot, but the difficulties to be surmounted in achieving it become more apparent daily as the European international political sparks shower about the open powder keg. Every point of the continental compass produces its problem. A concrete example is the boundary dispute between Moscow and the Polish government in London—a dangerous situation which again is hot.

Whether a workable peace league can be created seems to me to depend mainly at the outset on the Big Three—Great Britain, the United States and Russia—as this column previously has recorded. Of course all nations, big and little, are essential to perfect union, but the trio is the key to the problem.

That's why the statesmen of all countries watched Moscow intently during the talks just concluded between Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill regarding military and political problems. That conference may in the long run prove to be one of the most momentous of our time.

Letters To The Editor

COMPULSORY SERVICE

Your columnist, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, touched on a very important subject in this evening's Times, namely, the question of introducing some form of compulsory service for our youth after the war. It is significant that feeling in Britain now is veering towards permanent national service when peace comes.

I think it will be agreed that some compulsory training would be highly beneficial to our young men of high school and college age, a revival of the cadet system, with regular drills and annual camp. Every one of them would receive benefit from such training. The physical training during growing years, the ability to receive an order and carry it out without question — these things would certainly make for better men, resulting in more worthwhile and responsible citizens.

But what about the women? In view of the experience of the present war, my view is that girls should take a similar course of compulsory training, modified to suit different needs. Claims of sex equality these days in so many directions surely carry with them an obligation on the part of the other sex to share the burdens of the state in the various ways that women have proved their ability. In this war women have shown themselves able to stand up to many conditions of physical hardship and nerve strain, and I believe there are many of them who would gladly welcome such compulsion.

A large percentage of our girls at the present time are engaged in offices and factories, many making good money, which is often spent largely on expensive clothes, personal adornments and an excess of entertainment. This is not a good thing, resulting as it does in the development of a self-centred outlook on life, with little thought of civic spirit or public responsibility.

It would be a wise move if it were made compulsory for every Canadian girl and young woman to take some form of training as suggested above, so that they, too, would be ready—as well as the men—to face whatever problems the future may have in store for us.

"TIN PAN ALLEY"

Might I add a few remarks to the interesting article on Sir Thomas Beecham and music by J. H. Gray. I think with the writer that Sir Thomas should quit condemning "tin pan alley" and attend a little more to his own business. Why, for instance, should he allow his divas and choristers to indulge in such harrowing vibratos and tremolos when singing their parts in opera? This kind of singing is invariably sharp or flat in tone, so it is not much wonder that listeners turn from Beecham sometimes to the less excruciating Goodman.

It is a strange thing that a large number of concert, radio and even church soloists and choirs are adopting now this wobbly style of singing. Why singers of good music find it necessary to quaver in this distressing fashion is past comprehension. There ought to be a law against it, but failing that the next best thing might be a strike of listeners.

If Sir Thomas Beecham would devote some of his wise-cracking energy to the task of reducing this bad habit of singers to a bearable degree, I am sure he would have the grateful thanks of music lovers everywhere. As to music lovers being snooty to tin pan allayists, that is not actually the case. But the latter try to make it appear so. The snobbery at symphony lovers is created, like Social Credit, out of nothing but the imagination of highly-sensitive tin pan alley enthusiasts who cannot understand why anybody could possibly enjoy music with no snappy tunes in it.

I question Mr. Gray's contention that tin pan alley is the real authentic folk music. It is seldom any number lasts for more than a few months, but if it is so I would suggest bringing in the tom toms from darkest Africa and let us get down to bed rock with no more palaver

COMPULSORY SALUTING

From Peterborough Examiner

The use of force or coercion in patriotic observance is distasteful to free people; Hitler forced the youth of his country to swallow a vast amount of pungent patriotism, but he did not create a great nation by doing so. God Save the King is a prayer; may not those be silent who do not wish to pray? Saluting the flag is a symbolic action; why force it on those to whom symbols and idols are one?

THE LOST WALLET

This is the story of a Seabee named Luca Cavallo, and his wallet. It's only an incident, really—not very important, perhaps, when you're thinking in terms of global war and things like that. But Luca's wallet was mighty important to him, and it caused quite a stir on the railroad—long distance calls, telegrams, and a man stumbling along in the driving rain when he didn't have to. It's a human story, and it's true.

One evening last winter a Southern Pacific train full of Seabees was headed south. ("Seabee" is Navy for C.B.—Construction Battalions.) On board the train, Luca Cavallo and his pal Pete were eating box lunches. Between bites, Luca proudly showed Pete a snapshot he had taken from his wallet—a picture of his attractive wife and their baby, Gilda.

After Pete had properly admired the picture, the two Seabees finished their meal. Then Luca gathered up the waste papers and napkins, raised the train window and tossed the refuse out.

Seconds later, Luca reached for his wallet. It was gone! And with it, the precious snapshot—his only link with home, his wife and Gilda! By mistake he had thrown the wallet out the window with the waste paper!

Frantically, Luca ran through the train and found the conductor, Joe Olinder. He told Olinder what had happened. There was nothing in the rule book to cover such situations, but Olinder immediately swung into action.

He rushed up to the headend of the train where he could see the locomotive headlight illuminate the next mile post. He wanted to get a "fix" on where the wallet was lost.

As the train rounded a curve, he saw the white mile post stand out clearly in the blinding glare of the headlight — "37." Indelibly it was printed on his mind.

At the next stop, Conductor Joe Olinder called the Oakland dispatcher, Lloyd Ladner, and told him the whole story. Ladner immediately telephoned the Niles operator Ralph Stroupe, who got in touch with assistant signal supervisor Claude Lyon and asked him if someone couldn't go out along the right of way and look for Cavallo's wallet.

It was a terrible night — raining hard and very cold—but Claude Lyon put on his raincoat, got in his car, and started out.

At mile post 37 he got out of the car and started walking along the right of way, scanning every foot of it with his flashlight.

He walked more than a mile in the driving rain. He stumbled into four or five water-holes, got scratched in a briar patch, fell down a slippery clay embankment... but he found the wallet, and brought it back to his office.

When he opened the wallet, he found a hundred dollars in water-soaked paper money. More important, he found the precious snapshot of Luca Cavallo's wife and their baby, Gilda.

As Lyon put the money and picture near the stove to dry, the phone rang. It was Mrs. Florence Spencer, S.P. telephone operator at Watsonville Junction, calling for Luca Cavallo to see if his wallet had been found.

"Yes, I found it," Lyon answered. "Everything's in it—the money—the picture. . . . What's that? He wants me to keep the money? Listen, Mrs. Spencer, you tell the sailor that if he wants to give any rewards, he can send that money home to his little daughter. As soon as the stuff is dry enough, I'm putting it all in an envelope and mailing it straight to him."

This story doesn't have much to do with Southern Pacific's part in the war effort. It simply shows that railroads are more than trains and tracks. Railroads are people like conductor Joe Olinder, dispatcher Lloyd Ladner, operator Ralph Stroupe and assistant signal supervisor Claude Lyon. People who, no matter how busy they are, still have time to be thoughtful, and understanding, and human.

Weddings

JOYCE—SMALLWOOD

SPO. James Henry Joyce, R.C.N.V.R. and his bride, the former Irene Elizabeth Smallwood, have left to make their home in Halifax, following their marriage in First Baptist Church Saturday evening. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Smallwood, Vancouver, and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Joyce, 2534 Quadra Street. Rev. G. A. Reynolds officiated and Mrs. Haggart played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother, Vincent Smallwood, the bride chose a floor-length gown of frosted white organza having a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves trimmed with ruching. Her long veil caught to a sweetheart halo formed a train and she carried a Colonial bouquet of Talisman roses centred with a gardenia.

Miss Margaret Himmebreich was the only attendant wearing a gown of pink organza in similar style to the bride's. Her Juliet cap was matching and her arm bouquet was composed of pink carnations and mauve chrysanthemums. SPO. James Nicholson, R.C.N.V.R., supported the groom and Thomas Smith ushered.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents where they were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, Mrs. T. Smallwood of Vancouver.

Leaving for Vancouver en route to Halifax, the bride wore a cerise wool frock, brown coat and accessories and a gardenia corsage bouquet.

HEATER—JOHNSON

The marriage took place Monday evening in Metropolitan United Church of Jessie (Shirley) Johnson, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McPherson, 725 Belton Avenue, and Gordon Walter Heater, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Heater, 2514 Prior Street. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse officiated and Miss Catherine Craig, cousin of the bride sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

An imported tulle veil caught to a flower trimmed Juliet cap misted the bride's gown of white brocaded satin. She carried an ivory prayer book surmounted with gardenias and showered with swainsona and was given away by her grandfather. Twin frocks of white moire taffeta and white half hats trimmed with red velvet were worn by the bridal attendants, Miss Joan Johnson, the bride's sister, and Miss Roxanna Fell. They carried bouquets of red roses.

R. L. Fletcher was groomsman and ushering were Victor C. Jones and G. A. Etherington.

A reception was held in Terry's rose room where the guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Findlay of Vancouver.

Going-away costume of Monday evening's bride was a black and white houndstooth check suit with black topcoat and green accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Heater will live in Victoria after a honeymoon in C[illegible]y and Banff.

Collegians Hear Social Service Workers

Elaine Murray, Anne du Moulin, Florence Mercer and Norma Fleming, from left to right, above, four young graduates in social service work from the University of British Columbia, took part Monday in a round table discussion with second year students at Victoria College.

"Social Service work, as a profession, will give to the individual a chance to help build a better state," stated Miss du Moulin, leader of the discussion.

These girls, who have been doing nine weeks' field work in Victoria with the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Children's Aid and Family Welfare Societies, were offering themselves as examples of the graduating class in an endeavor to recruit sophomores for this profession.

Miss Mercer said courses in sociology, psychology and economics, as well as a working knowledge of good English were required for the necessary B.A. degree. A student of Social Service work must then proceed for a year of field work, studying social problems, plus a course in the summer school before receiving their final diploma.

DIVERSE INTERESTS

"Social Service work can be divided up into many branches such as deal with the problems of children, adolescents, adults, statistics and research. A worker may specialize in any such branch and will always find opportunities for positions," said Miss Murray.

Miss Fleming further amplified the work by presenting specific cases. She said a great deal of work was now being done among younger war immigrants.

"The benefits a person can receive from this type of career are unlimited if the worker is in earnest," Miss de Moulin said. "The work itself, is classed as a profession in which there is a vast field for employment offering the seeker continual new work and great possibility for advancement. There is international recognition of the training. The salaries of the workers are not fabulous but there is always security because the worker is certain of a position."

That this work is challenging, was the emphasis of all four young women. Academic standing is important but ability to know and like people and to view situations with a sense of humor is vastly more necessary.

Special Parade For Army Cadets

Taking their part in the special church parade called from coast to coast, approximately 200 members of the Royal Canadian Army Cadets will attend a church service at First United Church at 11 Sunday morning, followed by a march past with Brig. J. F. Preston, M.C., O.C., Fortress, taking the salute at the saluting base in front of the City Hall.

The following units will provide detachments and will parade in the order of march as follows: Esquimalt Garrison Band, Oak Bay High School Cadet Corps, and Victoria High School Cadet Corps. In command will be Capt. C. A. Gibbard, parade commander, and 2nd Lieut. N. M. Simister, second-in-command.

Route of the parade moving off at 10.40 from Cook and Pandora Streets is to be along Pandora to Quadra, and along Quadra to Balmoral.

Following the church service, the parade will fall in by the church at 12.10 and move off along Balmoral to Douglas at 12.15, continuing along Douglas for the salute at City Hall and on to Beacon Hill Park. Dispersal area will be Crystal Garden facing Douglas Street.

History of these cadets, oldest Canadian cadet organization, dates back 80 years and, despite its rises and falls, has always remained alive and on the statute books.

Object of the army cadets is "to train the future men of the country, physically and mentally, in habits of discipline."

New Appointments Made at City Hall

Appointments of Alfred Joyce to the position of collector of road, poll and dog taxes, and of John Ingram Smith to that of cashier in the assessor-collector's office, were made by the city's finance committee today. The action will be subject to confirmation by the City Council.

Mr. Joyce was selected from approximately 10 applicants and was chosen on the basis of his seniority, Ald. W. L. Morgan, chairman of the committee, said. Mr. Smith, who has been assistant cashier for years, was elevated for the same reason.

The appointments were understood to be the first recommended directly by the finance committee since the personnel committee under the city salary schedule by-law became operative.

Check Ration Books

Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials today asked the public to check their No. 4 ration books to see whether the K coupon sheet has been removed from the books.

If through error the K sheet was not removed at the distributing centre, the public is asked to surrender the sheet at the ration office in the Belmont Building.

The public was also advised to write their address and telephone number on ration book No. 5, if the address was not written at the distributing centre. There are 11 coupon sheets in the new book. They are: one sugar sheet, one preserves, two butter, two M sheets, one P sheet, one Q sheet, two R sheets, one S sheet and an RB 191 card.

School Meeting

Value of Christian worship in the home, school and church was emphasized by Pastor G. O. Adams, at the October meeting of the Home and School Association of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Parents of children attending the day school at Hillside and Graham were present at the meeting which was presided over by R. S. White. Miss Harriet Gustavsen spoke on the value and art of story telling in the home.

Is this Message for You?

TO THE THOUSANDS OF CANADIAN MEN AND WOMEN WHO HAVE NOT YET INVESTED IN VICTORY...

TO THOSE WHO FOR THE FIRST TIME ARE IN RECEIPT OF INCOMES...

TO OTHERS WHO ARE EARNING MORE THAN EVER BEFORE

ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

1 Am I doing everything possible to help win this war?

2 When the war is over and the boys come back from the battle front, can I look them in the eyes, unashamed and unafraid of criticism?

3 Am I willing to deny myself and buy bonds to the limit to give them what they need to bring speedy and complete victory?

4 Am I passing up an opportunity of the safest possible investment, paying a good rate of interest?

5 Am I some day going to regret that I did not take this method of providing the means to buy the things, or do the things, that are postponed for the time being?

Invest in victory

ONLY YOU CAN ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS

But remember—your purchase of Victory Bonds will help bring Victory nearer. It may help to save a life—possibly of one you hold dear. Buy all you can for cash—then all you can to be paid for out of income during the next six months.

With Our Servicemen

Lieut. Robert Charles Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, 235 Langford Street, who was seriously wounded in France Aug. 8, reached Vancouver Monday on a hospital train carrying war casualties brought across the Atlantic aboard Ss. Lady Nelson. His mother was there to meet him. Hall was wounded by machine gun bullets in the spine and is temporarily paralyzed from the waist down. He is a stretcher case and is expected to be detained at Shaughnessy Military Hospital for some time.

Lieut. Hall, in Vancouver, told the story of an 18-hour vigil in a grain field while Nazi patrols moved all about him and two friends died nearby. "I walked right into a hornet's nest," he said. I was commanding a platoon of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders. It seemed as if the whole world turned upside down for just a few seconds and the first thing I knew I was lying in a wheat field, completely paralyzed from the chest down, but not conscious of any pain. I had walked smash into machine gun hail. For 18 hours I lay there in that field, the grain just high enough to prevent the Germans from seeing me. During the night, a cold night filled with misery, two of the lads lying near me passed away. "I'll never forget their last moments—dying out there all alone in that field in France."

Next day a stretcher party found him.

The action in which Hall was wounded was beyond Caen when the Canadians were going forward to attack Fontenoy.

Another wounded Victorian from France who reached Vancouver Monday is Capt. G. P. Kidd of 1031 Wollaston Street. He also was detained at Shaughnessy.

PO. Strang Gurney is serving as senior PO, radar operator aboard the first cruiser to be taken over by the Canadian navy, H.M.C.S. Uganda.

Joining the R.C.N. as boy seaman in July, 1939, he has had several years' sea service on convoy duty aboard several ships, including the Restigouche. After taking further courses ashore at Halifax, he was loaned to the Royal Navy, and served aboard the cruiser Glasgow from October, 1943, till July, 1944, taking part in the D-Day invasion and subsequent actions.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Gurney, 1270 Basil Avenue, he attended Quadra Street School and Victoria High School. He was also a member of the Rainbow Sea Cadets for five years, and attained the rank of warrant officer and instructor before joining the R.C.N.

"Stooging" over enemy territory in a Halifax bomber is a peculiar way for a pilot who has completed an operational tour to spend his so-called rest period. But this is what Sqdn.-Ldr. B. F. N. Rawson, better known throughout Canada's heavy bomber organization as "Barney," has been doing. Rawson works under the direction of equally youthful Gp.-Capt. "Reggie" Lane, D.S.O., D.F.C., of Victoria, who at 24 is the youngest member of the R.C. A.F. to hold such rank.

FO. William A. "Bill" McCulloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. McCulloch, 1554 Pembroke St., who has arrived in Canada from overseas and is expected here to spend leave with his parents. He stopped off in Calgary to rejoin his wife, Edna. . . . Born in Saskatoon 24 years ago, McCulloch enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1941, went overseas in 1942 and has now completed a tour of operations and instructional duties. He came to Victoria as a child, received his education at Albert Head School, Victoria High School and took a Sprott-Shaw business course here. Before joining the air force he was employed at the Lumbermen's Exchange, Vancouver.

Sub. Lt. Jack Gibbs, R.C.N.V.R., only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, 773 Island Road, has arrived home following 14 months' Atlantic service with the Canadian Navy. . . . Gibbs, a graduate of H.M.C.S. Royal Roads, is well-known in local English rugby circles, having played with the University School, and later with the R.C.N. College, 1942-43 provincial champions, and with Victoria "Reps" in McKechnie Cup competitions in 1941, 1942, 1943.

C.P.R. Vice-President Broadcasts for Loan

C.P.R. employees here gathered round loudspeakers Monday noon to hear W. M. Neal, vice-president, broadcast on company communiciation facilities from Montreal, an appeal to buy Victory Bonds during the 7th Loan campaign, which is now under way.

Similiar groups listened in Vancouver, Nelson, New Westminster and a score of other points in the province when Mr. Neal, speaking as chairman of the employees Victory Loan campaign, urged all-out support for the current loan so that victory will be complete and unconditional.

Increase of the payroll percentage from 12½ per cent to 15 per cent has raised the national objective of the Canadian Pacific employees' own campaign from $7,500,000 to $8,500,000. B.C. employees' share of this is $804,900.

Mr. Neal said that in past loans $115,872,800 has been invested by individual members of the Canadian Pacific family, the company itself and its pension trust fund. Of this total $30,835,800 has been invested by officers and employees.

"Once more our money can be used to insure the future of our company. I know that employees will do their share," he concluded.

C. E. Stockdill Here

C. E. Stockdill, assistant to the vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, arrived in the city Monday on a western inspection trip. He is at the Empress with Mrs. Stockdill and plans to enjoy a little relaxation while here. His son Dexter is chief draughtsman at Yarrows No. 2 yard.

Mr. Stockdill found threshing well under way on the prairies with harvesting almost completed in Manitoba. Grain loadings for the lakehead elevators, he said, were heavy. War traffic, which continues at peak load, is being nicely handled by the railroads, Mr. Stockdill said.

He plans to remain in the city for several days.

Police Admit Chinese Gambling, Deny Bawdy Houses Charges, Fight Bootleggers

There is not a known bawdy house operating in Victoria, Inspector Walter Calwell Monday told the city police commission in the course of a two-hour meeting devoted to Dr. Hugh A. McLeod's Sunday sermon flaying night life here and alleging gambling, bootlegging and prostitution.

At the close of the session Commissioner B. J. Gadsden called for adjournment until 4 today for a meeting with Dr. McLeod. His motion failed to carry as Commissioner Margaret D. Christie questioned the value of such an interview and Mayor Andrew McGavin chairman, voiced opinion the minister would not extend his allegations beyond the limits of his sermon.

Chief J. A. McLellan told the commission he had never heard of women in rooms and on stairs in Chinatown. It was true women had gone into Chinatown restaurants, presumably with immoral intent, but they were picked up when police secured sufficient evidence to charge them with vagrancy. Eight convictions had been made last year and 10 this year.

POLICEMAN MUST BE CAREFUL

"That," said the chief, "should clear up the point of prostitution as far as police are concerned."

"It is all very well," he added, "for critics to make accusations and slide out of it. But a policeman has to be careful. He's liable to civil action."

The chief said two convictions had been registered to date this year against bootleggers in Chinatown and each had been fined $300. Three other cases had been investigated and in one of them liquor had been confiscated.

He reviewed policy on Chinese gambling, noting public opinion had turned against prosecutions there on the grounds they were becoming persecution. He had followed the system used in his predecessor's time by which the Chinese were not molested if they gambled among themselves and refused to let white men join them. The Chinese had adhered to that rule, he said. Gambling was about the only recreation they had, he added.

IN WHITE MEN'S CLUBS

Any poker games, the chief said, would have been seen in white men's clubs.

Regarding raffles for houses, he stated they were operating under the War Charities Act.

"The churches have done it and Government House has done it," interjected the mayor.

"They're really making a racket of it," said Commissioner Christie. "There's too many of them."

Mayor McGavin said the "Save the Children Fund" raffle was the only one that should be operating.

Regarding slot machines, the chief said he had sent men out periodically to curb them. Sometimes operators were caught. More often they were not.

Commissioner Gadsden declared himself on record against house raffles and said he would support the chief in a call for more men if more were needed to preserve law and order.

Inspector Jack Rogers stated there were rooming houses operated by Chinese, and were checked as such.

Inspector Caldwell reported on the absence of known bawdy houses.

Mayor McGavin said he thought Dr. McLeod should be at the meeting. Commissioner Gadsden agreed.

The chief continued his report, saying there were no crap games operating in town to his knowledge. Inspector Caldwell said there had been a conviction against an operator earlier in the year.

WHERE WAS THE POKER?

"Whereabouts was it he (Dr. McLeod) saw the poker?" asked the mayor.

Two constables were called for questioning of Dr. McLeod's statement he had asked a constable how it was the officer walked past games with money on the table and took no action and the constable's alleged reply that he acted on instructions of the chief of police.

They knew nothing of the matter.

A third constable, F. O. Slade, brought from his bed, made the explanation. A week ago Monday, Slade said, he met a man "in private clothes" who asked about gambling and bootlegging.

"If you were walking down Chinatown and saw gambling and money passed, what would you do?" the constable said the man asked him.

"I said," the constable explained, "'we take our orders from the chief of police'. He spoke to me in a kind of sarcastic manner and walked on."

Constable Slade denied, on question by Commissioner Gadsden, mention of money on tables.

At that point Commissioner Gadsden moved to adjourn for a meeting with Dr. McLeod. He did not feel satisfied with the meeting, he said. Dr. McLeod, he felt, might give more specific information on the places he had mentioned in a general way.

The mayor said he believed the pastor would stick to the points in his sermon.

SATISFIED WITH POLICE

Commissioner Christie said she was quite satisfied the police are doing the best they can with the numbers they have.

At the opening of the meeting parts of Dr. McLeod's sermon referring to the police had been read.

"I felt remarks like these should not have been made unless they were true," said Commissioner Christie. Some action was required, she added, in explanation of her desire for the meeting at which she presented the text of the sermon.

"He didn't give me a copy of it," said the mayor. "He went on the other side of the church—after me giving him a dollar."

After the sermon had been read, Commissioner Christie said Dr. McLeod had stated "he didn't look on but he saw these things."

"There's something screwy about that," remarked the mayor.

The commission debated the constable's alleged remarks he acted on the instructions of the chief, until the chief eventually stated that remark did not imply the officer was instructed not to do his duty.

Commissioners discussed gambling and its long hold in Chinatown.

"I take the stand there shouldn't be one law for the rich and another for the poor," Commissioner Gadsden said.

"But there is," the mayor replied.

"Unfortunately," Commissioner Gadsden added, "I can't contradict that."

Trade Training Most Desirable, Says Col. Fairey

Col. F. T. Fairey, B.C. technical educational director and regional director of Canadian vocational training for the armed services, told a meeting of Citizens' Rehabilitation Council in City Hall council chamber Monday that returned people, outside hospital cases, have been divided as follows:

1. Persons who will not need training, but will need jobs.
2. Persons who will need vocational training.
3. Persons who will need temporary assistance to get them established in their own businesses.
4. Persons temporarily incapacitated.
5. Persons who would benefit from high school and university training.

Replying to a questioner who asked how the government proposes to deal with veterans when they come back in great numbers, Col. Fairey said he and his fellow workers are quite confident there will be large numbers who will come back and look after themselves—"if not, they are in for a tough time." Plans have not been made for every man who has joined the services, he said.

EMPLOYERS HELP

"If we can get the employers to accept the men we are going to have no difficulty," he said, adding that so far employers have shown a fine spirit of co-operation and to date only 8 per cent of discharged veterans have applied for vocational training. Besides, he said, "I'm rather afraid we've plenty of time" to lay plans.

Training in industry is most desirable, Col. Fairey said, and his department is trying to work such a system.

"You can't turn out a good mechanic from a school, no matter how fine the school . . . shop atmosphere and shop experience are necessary," he said, "and we're trying to work out a combination of school and shop."

The vocational training plan, he said, includes classes in various trades so that men can be put into them when they come out for try-out courses, for a lot of men don't know what they want to do, and should be given reasonable opportunity to make up their minds under proper guidance.

Training in industry, Col. Fairey said, while most desirable, is also open to abuse, and because of this the government is very careful where men are placed. "We see to it that the man gives satisfactory service and the employer gives satisfactory training," he said. "We don't want to put a man into a garage to learn to be a mechanic and have him spend all his time washing cars."

Service people, Col. Fairey warned, should not expect these benefits as their right, but only if they will help re-establish them in civil life. Men and women may finish high school or may go through university, depending on their length of service, if they can show they would benefit from such training.

TOUGH DIRECTIVE

"We have been told we must not give training unless there is a reasonable expectation of placement, and that is a pretty tough directive," he said. "They are not entitled to it and it is not our duty to give training if such training is not going to help re-establish them in civilian life—this is not a handout."

Col. Fairey explained that all service people, whether of the active or home defence forces, are eligible for these post-discharge order training benefits, while only the active forces will receive war gratuities.

Forest L. Shaw was chairman in the absence of F. E. Winslow. It was announced that Cyril Colville had accepted the position of secretary - treasurer, replacing Maj. R. W. Phipps, who has been acting for some weeks. New members of the council were announced as Mrs. K. B. Spurgin, George Deane, retired municipal inspector of schools, and Mrs. Barnet Harvey.

A letter from an R.C.A.F. sergeant, expressing concern that men who had been taught to ruthlessly kill would find it difficult to settle back into civilian life, was discussed briefly and will be further debated at another meeting.

Matter of land privileges to veterans was also mentioned. Some members criticized the fact that these benefits are being withheld at present so that home defence troops would not get them first. At the same time it was pointed out men are returning from active duty overseas and likewise are unable to take advantage of them.

Marigold C.C.F. Forms New Club

A new C.C.F. club, recently chartered by British C.C.F. headquarters, has been formed in Marigold district of Greater Victoria, with L. J. Pepper, chairman and Mrs. H. Hinch, secretary.

In all, in the last week, six new C.C.F. clubs have been formed in various parts of the province.

C.C.F. headquarters also announce that national leader M. J. Coldwell, M.P., recently returned from England and the battlefields of France and Belgium, will tour B.C. next month, speaking in Victoria on a date yet to be decided.

Appointment of Councillor J. L. Hobbs as Saanich's representative of Victoria's D-Day committee was announced by Saanich today.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

ONE OF the most controversial topics in sport today is the effect, good or bad, the war will have on star athletes taken away from athletics through service with the armed forces. Many hold the opinion a good percentage of these boys will have lost their touch by the time they get back into first-class competition while others feel the army life will have no deterimental result on their sport ability. What better way to settle the argument than through the opinions expressed by famous professional athletes?

PROFESSIONALS now in the armed forces believe that if the war does not keep them away from competition too long they'll be able to return to play in as good condition as they could expect to be in at their ages. They differ in their opinions of what period could be considered "too long."

THE TIME away from sport will depend on the position he played, the age of the player and the amount and type of service participation," says Lieut. George R. (Birdie) Tebbets, the former Detroit baseball catcher. "Catchers will be the least affected because they are not required to have as many physical qualities that other positions demand." Byron Nelson, top-ranking golfer, writes: "The one main factor is how long will the war last? If the boys get out in a reasonably short time I don't think they will be hurt much. The training and regular hours and meals that most of the boys have had will tend to make them last longer. It will take hard work on the practice and golf course for some six months before they will be tournament hardened. Of course, losing a couple of very valuable years of competition won't help them any."

ONE OF the best-conditioned big league ball players over a period of 20 years was Capt. Ted Lyons, the greater pitcher of the Chicago White Sox who more recently has been ground officer with a United States marine air group in the Pacific. Lyons always insisted that "a ball player has to be in better condition than any other athlete and he has to keep in top form six months of the year." Most people think that a boxer or basketball player or a distance runner has the hardest training rap to beat, but what Lyons says is undoubtedly true. The ball player has to develop a sort of normal condition in which he is always fit both mentally and physically. This type of condition is also common to military experience. It is true, too, that a great many of the athletes are carrying on their sports while in uniform, and this together with the fine food and regular hours will certainly not hasten their decline. The story seems to be that they'll be all right if they are not kept away from the game too long.

NOTING where a chap in Regina had held the dream hand of all cribbage players a perfect '29" a couple of my crib playing friends Bruce Oldershaw and Fred (Anzac) Watson came up with a story of some mighty fast scoring in one of their recent battles. In one deal they scored 50 points in the three hands. Oldershaw and Watson each held 17 in their hands while the crib produced another 16 points. Pretty nice scoring I would say.

Army May Release Louis, Conn On V-Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Jacobs, president of the 20th Century Sporting Club, said Monday he expected heavyweight champion Joe Louis and contender Billy Conn to be released from the army after the European war ends and they might meet for the title as civilians in Yankee Stadium next winter.

"Of course, you can't tell when the war in Europe will be over, but it might be over by next spring," Jacobs explained.

'Busher' Jackson Retires From Bruins

TORONTO (CP)—Harvey "Busher" Jackson of Boston Bruins has announced his retirement from the National Hockey League after 15 seasons, first with Toronto Maple Leafs and later with Bruins.

"I've been playing at hockey for a long time," said the 33-year-old left winger. "I haven't much longer to go. I have to look for some kind of a business career sooner or later and as I have been made a fine offer by a big firm here I've decided to start on it right now."

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Arnold, Philadelphia's sensational 145-pound, 18-year-old high school student, scored his 27th knockout in 29 professional fights Monday night in 2:44 of the second round at St. Nicholas Arena. Robinson weighed 146½.

BRUSHING WITH MAKESHIFT CLEANERS MAY RUIN FALSE TEETH

TOOTHPASTES AND TOOTH POWDERS and household cleansers are not intended for false teeth—dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Many of these "makeshift" cleansers are so abrasive that continued use may ruin costly dentures.

DO THIS EVERY DAY!

SOAK IN POLIDENT!
No brushing, no scouring—simply put one capful of POLIDENT in ½ glass of lukewarm water. Stir briskly. Place plate or bridge in this solution for 15 min., or overnight if convenient. Then, rinse well and use.

PLAY SAFE . . . USE POLIDENT

Soaking plates and bridges regularly in Polident dissolves ugly stains and cloudy film that collect daily, cleans those hard-to-reach places without the dangers of brushing; maintains their original natural appearance.

Polident is recommended by many leading dentists and approved by leading makers of denture materials.

BEWARE OF "DENTURE BREATH".

You won't know you have "denture breath" but others will! Yet POLIDENT, used regularly, quickly dissolves the film that soaks up odors—leaves plates odor-free and sweet. Millions call POLIDENT a blessing.

COSTS LESS THAN A PENNY A DAY

Generous 3-oz. size—40c; economy 7-oz. size—75c, at all drug stores. Your money back if not delighted. Today—play safe . . . get POLIDENT!

Trojans Blast Huskies' Hopes As 70,000 Watch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California crushed Washington's hopes of being the western nominee for the New Year's Rose Bowl game by inflicting a 38 to 7 beating on the previously undefeated Huskies Monday.

One of the biggest football turnouts of the season—70,000—cheered itself hoarse as the unbeaten Trojans stopped the Washington running and passing game, and scored almost at will against the confused invaders from the northwest.

Washington's tackling was ragged and that of the Trojans their best of the year. Washington failed to cut down the speedy Southern California backs behind the line, and once in the open they outspeeded and outdodged the slower Washington secondary.

Gordon Gray, playing his last game for S.C., George Callanan, 17-year-old Don Burnside and Pat West all scored against coach Pest Welch's team, mainly on their speed of foot.

Daily Double Pays $3,546 at Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—The second highest daily double payoff in the history of Bay Meadows track horse racing took place Monday when Milldust coupled with Bonalta returned backers $3,546.90 for two-dollar tickets. The record of $3619.60 was established in 1937.

Milldust, paying $198.60, was ridden by Arlin Basset of Dodge City, Kas., Jack Robinson of San Diego rode Bonalta, which paid $16.20.

Fiery Justice, ridden by Alred Applebee, Liberal, Kas., moved into the lead in the stretch to win the feature race by three-quarters of a length. Time for the mile was 1:39 4-5.

Fiery Justice, owned by Harry Isenberg, Los Angeles, paid $9.40, $3.70, and $3.10. Rehtef paid $3.90 and $2.90 for place and William Palmer, $3.90, for the show.

Notre Dame Rated No. 1 Grid Outfit

NEW YORK (AP)—For the 13th consecutive time over a two-year period the Notre Dame football team rates as the United States' No. 1 college eleven in the Associated Press poll, but this time the Irish margin is a mere eight points.

Notre Dame, unbeaten this season, garnered 40 first-place tickets and 917 points. Army, likewise unscathed, finished with 909 points.

The leading teams on a point basis, with each first-place vote 10 points, second 9, third 8, and so on (first-place votes in parentheses): Notre Dame (40), 917; Army (30), 909; Randolph Field (23), 853; Ohio State (14), 790; Georgia Tech, 589; Iowa Pre-Flight, 347; Tulsa, 269; Pennsylvania, 269; North Carolina Pre-Flight, 166, and Purdue, 153.

32 Teams in Basketball

Open Season Saturday

With a total entry of 32 teams the Victoria and District Basketball League will usher in the 1944-45 season Saturday night at the Victoria High School gym with three games scheduled. The opening card follows:

7.15 — Intermediate B girls, Comets vs. Eaglettes.

8.15 — Intermediate B boys, K.V's vs. Combines.

9.15—Senior B men, Navy vs. Tommy Tuckers.

Finals plans for the season were made at a mammoth gathering of officials and players held Monday night. Total of 127 players were on hand, and promised the executive their whole-hearted support in making the coming campaign a successful one. During the evening 2,000 season tickets were distributed among the players and team managers.

Six special trophies will be offered this season, and will be awarded to the following athletes: Boy and girl scoring the most foul shots; boy drawing the least number of personal fouls; most improved junior player; player scoring the most points during the season; most valuable player to his team. The last-named award will include all divisions.

In addition, new championship trophies will be offered for each division. All trophies have been donated.

League officials reported progress in their efforts to bring crack United States college teams here for exhibition games with the R.C.A.F. Flyers from Pat Bay. University of Oregon have informed the league they are definitely interested, while the University of Washington Huskies have also intimated they would like to come. Another invitation has been sent out to the University of Southern California to send their Varsity club here, following an engagement in the Pacific Coast Conference against Washington at Seattle.

University of British Columbia Thunderbirds have been invited to appear in an intercity clash here Saturday, Nov. 11.

The league will stage a dance at the Crystal Garden the evening of Nov. 16.

Joe Krol Continues To Pace Gridders

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Krol of the Hamilton Wildcats in the Ontario Rugby Football Union continues to set the pace for individual scoring in Ontario's two football leagues, although Annis Stukus has regained the lead in the Ontario Armed Services League and has narrowed to four points the margin between himself and Krol.

This was shown in the weekly scoring statistics compiled by the Canadian Press for the two leagues. Krol has 40 points, 16 more than his closest rival in the O.R.F.U., and Stukus has 36.

Earl Selkirk of Toronto Balmy Beach stands second to the Hamilton ace with 24 points and another Balmy Beach player, Sam Sward, is third with 22.

Stukus moved ahead of Sgt. Doug Pyzer of Camp Borden in the services league. The stocky Camp Borden half was held scoreless Saturday after having scored six touchdowns for 30 points in previous games.

LAC. Bobby Porter, Camp Borden quarterback, moved into third place among the services league point-getters, with 16.

Hockey Gossip

There's a paucity of news from the training camps which probably indicates that the coaches, managers and other club officials are busy with the task of weeding out the rookies.

Art Ross of Boston Bruins' adopts the "say nothing" attitude yearly just before the league gets under way so that he can keep his line-up more or less secret until the opening game. Bruins break their Quebec training camp Thursday and will go to Montreal for the first game against Canadiens Saturday.

Mel Hill, a professional golfer in Saskatchewan between hockey seasons, and Bill Ezinicki of Winnipeg and classy winger with Oshama Generals, Memorial Cup champions last year, were unable to play a challenge golf match scheduled for yesterday, because the Owen Sound layout was ankle deep in autumn leaves. Ezinicki is a top natch amateur golfer in Ontario and challenged Hill to defend his Leaf title.

When New York Rangers break camp at Winnipeg Wednesday night they'll be accompanied to Toronto by nine players from New York Rovers, their farm team. Lester Patrick plans keeping the boys with him in the Queen City for a couple of days because of a shortage of hotel space in New York.

Montreal Canadiens' forward lines probably will shape up like this: Toe Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard; Fernand Gautheier, Murph Chamberlain and Ray Getliffe, and Rollie Rossignol, Buddy O'Connor and Dutch Hiller, with Bob Filion being retained in a utility role.

New York Rangers held a light practice session Monday in preparation for the second game of their exhibition series tonight with Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers. Coach Frank Boucher said he will stick to the line-up that defeated the powerful air force club 6 to 4 Saturday. Laurel Harney of Victoria, player-coach of New York Rovers, will start in goal instead of Ken McCauley. The two are splitting goaltending chores for the series.

Kimberley Puckster Prisoner of War

KIMBERLEY, B.C. (CP)—Tpr. H. E. "Buck" Kavanaugh, well-known Kimberley hockey player, son of Mrs. J. Kavanaugh here, has been reported as prisoner of war in Germany. Kavanaugh has been previously listed as missing in action in France last August.

QUEBEC HOCKEY

MONTREAL (CP) — George Slater, president of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, announced Monday night that the league would operate this season with four teams, the first game being in Ottawa Nov. 4, with Hull Volants visiting Ottawa Commandos. Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces are the other teams.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 10-round title bout between world bantamweight champion Manuel Ortiz from El Centro, Calif., and Luis Castillo of Mexico City, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed for two weeks, due to Ortiz' slight illness, promoter Cal Eaton said Monday night.

Clapper Ready For 18th Season In Major Hockey

QUEBEC (CP)—Aubrey (Dit) Clapper shows no sign of losing his hockey ability as he enters his 18th season with the National Hockey League Boston Bruins.

The 37-year-old Clapper, a native of Newmarket, Ont., is one of the best defencemen in the league today. A few seasons back he was up on the wing and for a while he played at centre. A right-hand shot, Clapper weighs almost 200 pounds and is five feet 8½ inches tall.

The season conditioning, which many players find somewhat distressing, offers no terrors to Dit, who works on a farm during the summer.

Clapper is rather modest about his success in the hockey world but readily admitted he attained his present position through "hard work."

He last played amateur hockey in Toronto with the Parkdale Canoe Club in 1925-26 and the following season he switched to professional ranks with the Boston Tigers of the Canadian-American League. One year in minor ranks was sufficient to prepare Dit for the National League and the next year he was playing with the Bruins.

He qualified first as a right winger and played in the forward areas for 10 years before falling back to the defence line for the Boston club.

When Clapper completes this season with Bruins he will have equalled the record of service in major league hockey of Frank Boucher of New York Rangers, who has 18 years.

Cadets Meet Flyers In Senior Rugby

Second game of the Barnard Cup rugby series between the Naval Cadets and R.C.A.F. will be played Saturday at Macdonald Park, starting at 2.30. In their opening engagement last weekend the Flyers marked up a 3 to 0 victory. An intermediate game will be played on the lower grounds between Victoria College and Naval College B, starting at 2.

Wednesday afternon at the Victoria High School ground there will be a Intermediate League game between Royal Naval College B team and Victoria High School. Play will start at 3.45.

The game between Victoria College and Oak Bay High School which should have been played last Saturday has been put back until Nov. 11, Armistice Day, and will be played before the McKechnie Cup game.

Capt. Dick George, Army, has been appointed manager of the Victoria McKechnie Cup fifteen for the series.

On Nov. 1 a "rep" trial match will be played at Macdonald Park in the afternoon, and on Nov. 4 a second trial match will be played to make it possible for the selection committee to pick the 15 players to defend the historic McKechnie Cup.

Capt. Dick George, Rod McInnes and Campbell Forbes are members of the selection committee.

Canadian Airmen Win

ADVANCED R.C.A.F. AIRFIELD IN BELGIUM (CP)—Basketballers of Group Capt. G. R. McGregor's R.C.A.F. Airfield had their first action of the season recently, scoring a 45 to 29 victory over "Parc Royale" intermediate cagers from Brussels.

High-scoring Canadian was Cpl. Alex Breathett of Toronto, well known in senior basketball circles as a member of Toronto's Broadview "Y" teams. Cpl. Dave Marshall of Winnipeg also hit the strings with regularity. Half-time score was 22 to 22.

The Belgians, ranging in age from 20 to 23, played a good brand of ball but, as Pte. Bill Polosky of Toronto, explained it: "They lacked that North American swish close to the basket. They played it straight from the book, passed well and seemed to know what screening meant, but they rifled all their shots from pretty long range."

WESTS PRACTICE

A workout of the Victoria West football team will be held tomorrow evening at the Athletic Park at 6:30. All members of the club are asked to turn out, despite weather conditions.

Goalie Big Problem Of Toronto Leafs

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs will start the 1944-45 National Hockey League season with only one question mark on a club which possesses greater all-round offensive and defensive strength than last year's team which finished in third place in the league standings.

However, Coach Clarence (Hap) Day, who was frankly optimistic two weeks ago about his club's chances when he said it would be the best since the Stanley Cup winning aggregation of 1941-42, now declines any speculation as to its prospects in the campaign which it opens Saturday night in Toronto against New York Rangers.

"I have never seen so little information coming out of the camps of the other teams as this year," he said. "So I don't propose to do any talking until I learn what we're going to be up against."

The question mark concerns the goaltending. Frank McCool, Canadian Army discharged from Calgary who will be 28 Friday, is Day's choice for the goaltending position. McCool was out with New York Rangers a year ago but illness prevented him from playing. He is the pick of the three candidates in training camp drills here, the other two prospects being 18-year-old Pat Boechmer of Kitchener who played with Toronto St. Michael's College last season and Leo Sargent from St. Catharines.

DEFENCE STRONG

Three players from last year's Leafs and one newcomer will make up the regular defence foursome. Big Walter (Babe) Pratt, leading point-getter among N.H.L. defenceman last year with 17 goals and 40 assists, Reg Hamilton and Elwin Morris are the veterans and the newcomer is Pete Backor, a husky performer who comes from Fort William and who played with St. Catharines in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series last season. Backor, aged 25, is an army reject.

The return to N.H.L. play of Dave (Sweeney) Schriner after a one-year lay-off is expected to give the Leafs added scoring strength. The left-winger from Calgary will team up on a line with 22-year-old Gus Bodnar, winner of the N.H.L. rookie award last season, and veteran right-winger Lorne Carr who stood third among league point-getters last season with 74. He had 36 goals and 38 assists. Bodnar had 22 goals and 40 assists for 62 points.

METZ RETURNS

Nick Metz, another Toronto veteran who joined the army in 1942 and was discharged last summer, is expected to play on a forward line with Bill Ezinicki, promising Winnipeg youngster who played with the Oshawa Generals, Dominion junior champions last season, and Ted (Teeter) Kennedy, the Port Colborne boy who is starting his second season with Leafs.

Veteran Bob Davidson and Mel (Sudden-Death) Hill will be on a third line and their partner may be Tom O'Neill or Jack McLean, both members of last year's team. McLean is available only for home games.

Defencemen Jim Thomson from Winnipeg and Ross Johnstone, Leaf utility player last season, may also be carried and there is a prospect that Ken Schultz from Preston and Eric Prentice from Schumacher in the Timmins district may wind up with contracts.

Leafs have not yet completely give up hope of acquiring Paul Bibeault from Montreal Canadiens for goal. The agile little net-minder played good hockey in the 29 games he played with Toronto last season when he came to the team on loan from Montreal Canadiens after his discharge from the Canadian Army. They are still angling for his services, although Canadiens so far have turned a deaf ear to all proposals for a cash purchase.

Zurita-Pep Fight Draws Criticism

PATTERSON, N.J. (AP)—The National Boxing Association president, Abe J. Greene, announced Monday any attempt to match Juan Zurita, N.B.A. lightweight champion, with Willie Pep, holder of the New York-New Jersey-Pennsylvania version of the featherweight crown, would be "frowned upon" by the association.

Green said attempts to stage an over-the-weight fight between the two were being made in New York, and he indicated there was a possibility that recognition of Zurita would be withdrawn if the bout goes through.

"There are enough legitimate lightweights around entitled to a crack at the championship," Greene said, "and Zurita must risk his crown against some of the men on the ranking list issued last week by the association."

V.M.D. WORKOUT

A workout of the V.M.D. football team will be held this evening at the Athletic Park at 6:30. Anyone wishing to play the game this season is asked to show up at the training sessions or telephone G 6844.

Wider Liquor Choice Seen In November

VANCOUVER (CP) — Liquor Commissioner Kennedy has advised British Columbia permit holders that they might be wise to delay purchase of their October liquor ration until after Oct. 31.

The quota is 13 ounces for each month but the October liquor ration can be purchased any time in November. Mr. Kennedy said the liquor fiscal year ends Oct. 31 and new stocks will be available early in November when permit holders will have a wider choice.

The October beer ration must be purchased in October.

Winch Scores Report On Civil Service

VANCOUVER — Provincial C.C.F. leader Harold Winch, Leader of the Opposition, Saturday registered strong protest to the provincial government's policy as outlined in the Baker report on the civil service.

Under the recommendations in this report, Mr. Winch said, present salaries of veteran provincial government employees will be so adjusted that it will be possible for new employees to receive the same amounts within two or three years after joining the service.

In some cases, Mr. Winch said, veteran employees are leaving the civil service because of dissatisfaction with their adjusted wage scales. There is evidence, he said, that the wages granted to new appointees in some cases are higher even than in instances complained of by long-time employees.

Mr. Winch said there is so much dissatisfaction over the wage adjustments that the provincial government has been asked to set up a bargaining agency immediately, which would include representatives of the B.C. Government Employees' Association. This request, said Mr. Winch, has been met with the government statement that no steps toward representation on a bargaining agency can be considered unless the Civil Service Act has been opened at a legislative session.

The C.C.F. leader said this reply of the government is a denial of a right which should belong to all workers in the province, regardless of who their employers are.

$2,000 Settlement

VANCOUVER (CP)— Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson has authorized payment of $2,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cleator of Vancouver by the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., in settlement of a suit by the couple who claimed a streetcar collision was the cause of Mrs. Cleator suffering a miscarriage.

COLOR OF TURQUOISE DUE TO PRESENCE OF BITS OF COPPER

"If you look at the image of the new moon reflected from a turquoise, you will escape evil and will have good fortune."

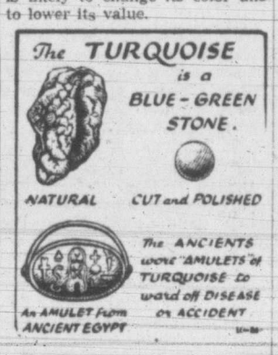
Those words tell us a belief held in Iran, where the gem known as the turquoise has been called "the national stone."

People in Iran may believe such things but that does not make them true. No sound reason ever has been found to look on precious stones as having "mystic power," for good or for evil.

People have quarrel about the ownership of gems, and their quarrels have brought harm, but that is a different matter. Greed can cause ill fortune through quarrels over land or gold, as well as over jewels.

The turquoise got its name through the use of old French words meaning "Turkish gem." During early days, people in Europe obtained the gem through trade with the Turks, but Iran (or Persia) has been the home-land of the turquoise far more than Turkey. Miners in Iran, even to this day, go down into the ground to cut into rock and locate veins containing the stone.

The blue, green or blue-green color of the turquoise comes from bits of copper in the stone. To wash the gem in soapy water is likely to change its color and to lower its value.



The Iranian type of turquoise is of highest value, but Palestine, Arabia, Australia, Mexico and southwestern parts of the United States also have mines.

Another interesting stone is the agate. It contains stripes and circles of grey, white, black, blue, brown and red. In olden Egypt agate stones were used to form eyes in the statues of gods. A dark circle on the stone, with white all around it, may look very much like a human eye, and people have been startled by the agate eyes of the old statues.

The name "agate" comes from a river in Sicily where the stone was found in ancient times. At present it is picked up from the beds of rivers, or along the shores of lakes, in many lands. Stones with "eyes" are found in large number around Lake Superior.

Through Arteries For Oak Bay Mooted

Development of three arteries to Oak Bay as a possible postwar undertaking is suggested by the council of that municipality in a letter received at the City Hall today.

Oak Bay proposes Fairfield, Rockland and Richardson be considered for through traffic to relieve the pressure on the Dardanelles.

Assistance for its work this season is sought from the city by the Victoria and District Basketball Association in a letter, received at the City Hall today.

Legless Veteran Buys Bonds to Help Sons

Some interesting sidelights of the Victory Loan campaign were reported by canvassers as they returned to headquarters after having started on their three-week campaign despite the heavy rain Monday.

The welcome received by one canvasser when he called on a veteran of World War I made the rest of his day easy. This man lost both legs in the last war and has two sons serving in this war, one in the navy and one in the army. Both have been on active service for four years. He knows, without being told, the great need there is for the equipment and ammunition that 7th Victory Loan Bonds will buy, and purchased a $100 bond without waiting to be asked.

"The Little Street that wasn't there" came through with well over $3,000 worth of bonds when it was canvassed Monday afternoon. Green Street, which became officially lost several years ago on a resurvey and was dropped from city maps, was not neglected by Victory Bond salesmen.

The element of humor was introduced into another canvasser's call. The man being canvassed explained apologetically that he could only take a $1,000 bond this time because he was getting a divorce from his wife and needed the rest of his money to "buy out" her share in the family residence.

Royal Canadian Navy personnel have completed a large painting of a destroyer, representing Greater Victoria's Victory Loan objective, and this will be displayed today, together with a thermometer to show the progress of the campaign.

OK Delicious Apples Arriving This Week

First carload of Okanagan Delicious apples for the season will arrive in Victoria the end of this week and, with a heavy crop on hand, growers have assured wholesalers of "all the Delicious apples you want," one Yates Street wholesaler said today.

"We will bring them in as fast as people eat them, for the crop is heavy and the quality good," he added. "Two cars of MacIntosh Red apples are due this week and quality is at its best. There is a special price on unwrapped Macs at the present time."

A temporary orange and lemon shortage is looming, although there are sufficient quantities on hand at the present time, the wholesaler said. Shipments of Florida grapefruit were received this week and the first shipment of Texas grapefruit is expected Monday.

Prices are higher on grapes now and shipments of California Tokays are arriving regularly. A shipment of Ribiers from California was received, but it was small and will not be followed by other shipments, the wholesaler said. There is a fair demand for California pomegranates with a small amount received recently.

A shortage of sweet potatoes which lasted for three weeks was relieved today with arrival of a shipment from California. There is an excellent demand according to wholesalers. Other arrivals this week included a car of dry-belt potatoes and a car of cabbage from Winnipeg to take care of the local demand. Further shipments are expected and the quality is very good. Local cauliflower, celery and hothouse tomatoes are available.

Barilla Appeal Notice Served

His intention to serve the Attorney-General with notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada in the Albert E. Barilla case was announced by Stuart Henderson, Barilla's counsel, today.

The notice covered preliminaries required before the case can be carried to Ottawa from Court of Appeal here. At the Victoria sitting, a majority of the Court of Appeal reduced Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris' sentence, which would have sent Barilla to the gallows, to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, dissenting, would have granted a new trial. The division permits further appeal.

Saanich School Plans Revised; Postwar Projects

A revised building plan for Saanich schools was approved by Saanich School Board Monday evening and is to be submitted to the council at its next meeting. Ratepayers will probably have a by-law put before them in December to finance the proposed building and renovation of the municipality's schools.

The board also approved two plans drawn up by a committee composed of trustees M. P. Paine, Mrs. Francine Paterson and Inspector John Gough. The first plan dealt with projects of urgency to be started immediately. The second dealt with postwar projects of building and renovation. One addition was made to the postwar plans.

The immediate constructions and renovations are similar to those proposed by the by-law defeated this year. Favoring the construction of a four-room unit at Cordova Bay school to accommodate schoolchildren there rather than send them to Lake Hill school, the board dropped plans for the renovation of Lake Hill school. It was also decided to provide space for grade 8 at Tolmie, thus relieving Mount View, which had previously provided classroom space for Tolmie students. Extra classroom space at Cloverdale school was also approved.

ATTENDANCE UP

D. R. McAdams, school board secretary, reported the average daily attendance had risen from 2,444 in June to 2,675 in September.

Among postwar projects were additions of gymnasiums to the three High Schools, auditoriums at several of the other schools, and attention paid to all schools in need of additions and renovations.

The board also looked with favor on the suggestion of a postwar possibility of joining with Victoria in the erection of a Junior High School which would accommodate students from the northern part of the city and the southern part of Saanich, rather than the erection of separate junior high schools for the purpose.

Implementation of the new salary schedule on approval of the teachers' salary committee was voted for by the board. The teachers will meet Wednesday. Inspector Gough and Mr. McAdams are to place the teachers in their salary categories.

Institution of a category system was decided upon. Under this system teachers who have served five years would be entitled to additional increments for taking professional and academic courses. Important factors in assignment of wage increases would be number of courses taken at summer schools by the teachers and the length of time they had been teaching.

Ship Which Broke In Two Reunited

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shipyard workers at North Van Ship Repairs Ltd. set what is believed to be a world record for the industry when it took them just 16 days to repair a 10,000-ton Liberty ship which broke in two last winter of the Aleutians. The Wartime Shipping Administration had allowed 20 days for the repairs.

The Alexander Baranoff broke in two forward of the bridge while running light in heavy weather, but the bulkheads held and both sections remained afloat.

One section was picked up by a U.S. navy tug and taken to a northern port and the other half was taken in tow by a Russian icebreaker and delivered to another port.

Last May the U.S. navy performed the remarkable feat of towing the after end to Vancouver stern first, delivering it to North Van Ship Repairs. The forward end was towed to Vancouver last August and set alongside the after portion.

The ship was built at the Richmond yard in Portland, Ore., and was given to Russia under lend-lease. The Russians changed the name to Valeri Chkalov, but the name was changed back to Alexander Baranoff when the Russians returned the ship to the United States for a replacement ship.

Airman Knocked Down

Struck by a bus which was turned completely around when it went into a skid at Gordon Head and Arbutus Roads, PO. Hugh Hoblitzell was reported today to be in a fair condition.

The 21-year-old airman was removed to Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering head and possible internal injuries.

Saanich police said the bus, driven by William F. J. Gaskell, Lake Hill Post Office, went into a skid when it was stopping to pick up the airman and another passenger Monday night. The airman was struck by the rear of the skidding bus.

Victory Loan Movie

A scene from the 20-minute film "In All Thy Sons Command" which is being shown at the Victory Loan stand on View Street between Douglas and Broad. Movies will be shown every night of the campaign at 8, weather permitting. This film shows war factories and production lines in Canada, Canadian troops training overseas, and concludes with shots of ships going to Europe and troops landing on the beachheads. Plans are also being made to have concert parties give shows at the "bond shell" which has been erected there.

Navy Shows Way In 7th Loan Drive

The Royal Canadian Navy is showing the way in Victory Loan subscriptions for the 7th Victory Loan, with several ships already over-subscribed although the campaign is only in its second day.

Setting the pace in the navy's fleet of small ships, the former Fisherman Reserve vessel, H.M.C.S. Talapus under the command of Lieut. S. Sowerby, of Victoria is leading with 230 percent of her quota already subscribed. The Talapus has a crew of 13 officers and men.

First fairmile to go over the top is the ML-124, one of the subchasers used to patrol the Pacific Coast. Under the command of Lieut. E. S. Blanchet of St. John, N.B. The ML-124 has subscribed 188 per cent of her quota to date. Lieut. Blanchet was also skipper of the fairmile ML-067 which won the trophy for the highest subscription total in the Sixth Victory Loan.

Ships cooks at H.M.C.S. Naden have subscribed 120 percent of their quota after being canvassed by CPO. Fred Sparkes. The photography section of the Naden has also 120 percent of its quota and won the ship's first pennant.

Another group over the top is the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads, which has achieved 115 percent of their quota on the first day of the drive.

From sea-going personnel, first ship to report over the top in the Victory Loan was the 105-foot wooden minesweeper, H.M.C.S. Rossland, a B.C. built ship manned by B.C. officers. The sturdy little ship signalled 100 percent result on the opening day of the drive.

H.M.C.S. Givenchy reports 53 per cent of its quota subscribed, leading all Vancouver Island Navy divisions. Stokers on the Givenchy have subscribed 130 per cent of their quota.

Aeronautical Workers Back Trade Unionists

Lodge 756, International Association of Machinists, aeronautical mechanics, meeting Monday evening, voted to support Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference in withdrawing from the continuations committee, following the recent rehabilitation conference here.

Several trade unionists charged the continuations committee had been dominated by the C.C.F., and that such a committee should have no political color whatever.

B.C. Orders-in-Council

Following are among recent provincial government orders-in-council: Appointing Francis William Engeman of Clinton a judge of the juvenile court at Clinton for the Lillooet electoral district; rescinding of commissions of Dr. A. W. Holm of Sechelt and Dr. E. N. East of Qualicum Beach.

Land reserves were canceled for Giuseppe Roat of Qualicum, to give him an additional 10 acres adjoining his nature museum, so he may build a road and protect it from fire; for Phyllis Gardner to give her a small island in the mouth of Gowland Harbor, Sayward district, so she might build summer cottages; for James Norman Bond, allowing him to purchase 160 acres of land in Peace River district, enabling him to start a farm, complete with pure-bred stock, for his son, now fighting overseas.

Victoria Central Club (C.C.F.) will meet at Woodsworth Hall, 857 Pandora at 8 tomorrow night.

Loan Speaker

Matthew Halton, well-known war correspondent and commentator, who will appear in Victoria on behalf of the 7th Victory Loan campaign during the week of Nov. 5 to 11.

Screen actress Gail Patrick, who has been an untiring worker in all Canada's Victory Loan campaigns, will be here Nov. 4. She appeared in Regina for the opening of the campaign.

Loan officials are also trying to make arrangements to have Maj-Gen. R. F. Keller, C.B.E., general officer commanding the 3rd Canadian Division, speak on behalf of the loan during the next three weeks. He is in Canada at the present time receiving treatment for wounds, and it is not certain that he will be well enough to make a public appearance.

Scale Mount Baker In Rain and Mist

A trip to the summit of Mount Baker and a descent through clouds limiting visibility to a few yards, were described today by Lieut.-Col. H. Westmorland, 2130 Central, who with Eric Brooks and Harold Graves left Glacier, Washington, at 5 last Friday evening for Mt. Baker.

"We left Mt. Baker Ski Club at 5.45 on the morning of Oct. 21 and climbed the mountain by Coleman Glacier and Roman wall reaching the summit at 1.25 in the afternoon," he said.

"The weather rapidly worsened from a clear morning to cloud on the summit. Cloud settled during the descent 5,000 feet down the peak, limiting visbility to a few yards. A vicious wind was blowing across the summit."

The party spent a second night at the Mt. Baker Ski Club cabin in the descent, Col. Westmorland said and added that though heavy rain fell in the night, it ceased by morning.

"Due to the short days, the mountain was ascended from 2,500 feet to 6,000 feet by lamp light and due to heavy cloud, was descended from 10,750 feet to 6,000 feet in thick mist."

The party expressed their thanks to the Mt. Baker Ski Club for the use of their cabin.

Alterations at Brewery

A permit for $4,000 plant and office alterations at the Victoria Phoenix Brewery Co. Ltd. was issued by the city building inspector today.

Other permits covered $900 changes to the Wavell Apartments, 1677 Hollywood Crescent, which will cover two additional garages and changes to the janitor's suite, and $2,500 alterations to the kitchen and mezzanine floor at Young's Cafe, Douglas, for the Oddfellows' Union.

Annual meeting of the B.C. Drama Association will be held in Vancouver Oct. 26, in the Hotel Vancouver, at 8. Little theatres and drama clubs are asked to send delegates. A one-act play will be given by the Vancouver Little Theatre.

900 Laid Off By C.P.A. May Get Work From U.S.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Re-employment of up to 900 men and women in the Canadian Pacific Airways plant by a United States company engaged in manufacture of airplane parts is a possibility.

Negotiations now are under way between Mayor William Mott of New Westminster and Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supplies, acting Mayor J. A. Courtney told the New Westminster city council Monday night.

Due to cancellation of Dominion government war orders, the C.P.A. plant will cease operations this week, having laid off 1,400 employees since peak production last June.

Only a maintenance crew of 40 will be kept on the payroll. The surplus labor which has created a serious unemployment situation in New Westminster will be absorbed to a large extent if the present negotiations are brought to a successful conclusion.

It is understood the C.P.A. company, a subsidiary of the C.P.R. which has been operating the plant for the Dominion government, has prior rights to take over the plant as a private enterprise.

Canadians Hold Firm Under Counterblows

ROME (AP) — British 8th Army troops driving northward along Italy's Adriatic coast, have advanced half a mile beyond captured Cervia, while inland Canadian forces have enlarged and strengthened their bridgehead across the Savio River, north of Cesena, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent, said the Canadians had brushed off repeated German counterattacks during the last 24 hours, and early today were holding firmly to their positions.

The bridgehead was thrown across the Savio, which runs northward through captured Cesena into the Adriatic, late Friday night and today, at the beginning of the fourth day of the thrust, the Canadians were in high spirits.

Dry clothes, rations, ammunition, and — most important of all in this torrential rain and cold — an issue of rum, cheered the troops lying in their places on the sodden ground.

TANKS MOVE SUPPLIES

West of Cesena, where British troops hold another bridgehead across the Savio, the Germans were hurling a heavy weight of shells. Tanks were moving up most of the supplies for the British infantry.

Flood conditions made for difficult going on the 8th Army front, but the troops were meeting only slight enemy resistance.

South of Cesena, Indian troops took Monte Cavallo, key feature of the Savio watershed. Farther south Britons and Poles of the 8th Army made local gains.

Nursing Sister Fox Back From England

Lieut. (N.S.) P. M. Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Fox, 1809 Foul Bay Road, has arrived home from England aboard a hospital train and is a patient in the Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

Nursing Sister Fox went to England more than a year ago and has been stationed with a Canadian General Hospital. Prior to going to England she was stationed at the Victoria Military Hospital. She is a graduate of King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan.

She was met in Vancouver by her sister, Mrs. A. R. C. Hebden of Victoria.

Scout News

The Salt Spring Co. Boy Scouts, Ven. Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, scoutmaster, took part recently in a fire prevention demonstration. Under direction of Chief Fire Warden A. B. Elliott, the boys formed a bucket brigade, successfully extinguishing a fire and rescuing a dummy.

The troop now numbers 24, and two boys recently obtained first class rank, with several getting second class ranking. David Wetherell passed tests and obtained his fireman's badge.

Daylight Saving Not Discussed

Premier John Hart said today the government had not had time today to discuss daylight saving.

State Secretary McLarty said Monday daylight saving could be ended by the provinces if they saw fit and the Dominion government would not object.

Egg prices, excepting peewees, have risen 2 cents, it was announced today by the Dominion Government Poultry Products Inspection Service.

Renovation Starts On Y.M.C.A. Building

Work on the Y.M.C.A. building has been at a standstill during September owing to difficulty of securing skilled labor, but renovation has now commenced, it was reported at a meeting of Y.M.C.A. directors Monday. The report recommended the setting aside of some contracts marked "urgent" on the survey, and commencement of other work for which help was available.

Report on war services spoke of the attempt made to secure lists of servicemen returning to the city, and criticised the fact there were no lists available for any organization or auxiliaries which wished to work for and with returned service personnel.

Seventeen community and "Y" organizations had held a total of 26 meetings during the month, with an attendance of 1,350.

Report on the department of physical education showed there had been 67 sessions with a total attendance of 1,123, considerably less than for the corresponding months of the past five years.

There had been great difficulty in getting classes underway in the physical department owing to installation of the filter and chlorinator in the pool, it was reported. The report added many of the boys had walked out of the building when they realized the pool was not ready, thus proving the popularity of the pool. It was expected swimming would boom this season. Several work parties had assisted the physical director in repairing, renewing and testing all gymnasium apparatus.

HOBBY SHOP

The boys' department reported chief item of business at the meeting of the Kiwanis Boys' Work Committee was drawing up of a budget in connection with the proposed Hobby Shop to be installed in the "Y" building. At the meeting of the "Y" boys' work committee, the report said, it had been decided to centre the attention of the key meeting on the subject of vocational guidance.

The Victoria High School Hi-Y Club had started and was well advanced in its year's program, and the Mount Douglas Hi-Y had organized itself under the sponsorship of one of the school's staff members, while a Hi-Y was also being formed at Mount View, the report added.

Statistical report for the boys' department showed 107 sessions held with a total attendance of 406.

In the co-educational department, it was reported, the So-Ed committee had spent a great deal of time on the So-Ed fall series; while the Bud-Y group were seeking a larger attendance at the Saturday night dances, two of which were run during the month. From the three groups sponsoring the Saturday night dances, delegates were sent to the co-educational council and a resolution was made to get the older crowd coming to the dances again.

The Victoria committee of the Canadian Youth Commission was continuing to meet and had one very active panel, the recreation committee, it was said.

FOR TEENAGERS

The Teen Club committee was reported to be holding weekly meetings to discuss program and policies of the Teen Canteen for the older students.

Report for the co-educational department showed 40 meetings had been held with a total attendance of 921.

The board gave Archie McKinnon authority to attend the Canadian Physical Education Association to be held in Winnipeg Nov. 2, 3 and 4. Theme of the convention will be "Fitness Today and Tomorrow."

Authority was also given Mrs. Helen Simpson, co-educational secretary, and A. O. Morrison, boys' work secretary, to attend a social work conference to be held in Victoria, Nov. 2 to 6.

Resignation of Mr. Morrison, who is to become first community counsellor at Kelowna, was accepted with regret by the board who paid tribute to his services with the "Y".

A wedding present of crystal sherbet glasses was given Jack Symes, young men's department representative, by the board.

W. T. Straith, "Y" president, was chairman of the meeting, while in attendance were Frank Paulding, J. V. Johnson, Dr. Clifford Carl, Ray Parfitt, E. G. Rowebottom and Alderman Burgess J. Gadsden.

In Police Court

Harry Brockbank, bigamist, father of six children, was sent to jail today by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city court for one year at hard labor.

Pleading guilty of dangerous driving Oct. 16 at Douglas and Yates where he narrowly missed several persons leaving a street-car zone, Wilfred H. Olson, naval rating, was fined $25 and his license was suspended one month.

A mother, convicted for a third time on an intoxication charge, was sentenced to 20 days.

High School Students In Radio Discussion

Something new in educational radio will be the Forum panel discussion featuring Victoria and Vancouver High School students, which will be carried on the CBC Pacific network tomorrow afternoon at 2. The subject will be "Citizenship" and juvenile delinquency will be discussed.

Victoria will be represented by a panel of three students, including Maud Wallace and Pat McIlroy of Victoria High School. They will be heard in the first half of the program speaking from the studios of CJVI.

Producer of the program will be Archie MacCorkindale, formerly of Victoria, who is at present on the staff of CBR Vancouver.

A back porch fire, to which city firemen were called at 11.25 Monday night, did slight damage to a home at 439 Richmond.

Pacific Air Routes To Be Considered By Commonwealth

MONTREAL (CP) — Delegates at the British Commonwealth Air Conference today split up into technical committees after a short plenary session.

The committees will report to the full conference for discussion Thursday.

Conversations, which entered their second day today, loom up as a link in a pattern of negotiations looking to an orderly development of civil flying between nations in the postwar period.

While the meeting is intertwined with what happens at the forthcoming international meeting at Chicago, it is not a rehearsal for Chicago on a smaller scale.

IMPORTANT GAP

As the Pacific Ocean is the most important gap in Commonwealth air transportation, a good deal of attention will be devoted to it, especially in the light of the desires of the Australian and New Zealand governments to get services going there.

As an example of what the meeting may do, the Pacific situation provides an instance. If an international agreement provides for mutual free landing rights among participating countries a service from Canada to Australia can be planned in anticipation.

If landing rights are left to bargaining between the country desiring the rights, and the country governing the territory on which it is desired to land, the question of quid pro quo may come up.

In planning a Pacific service it will then be necessary to consider where intermediate landing rights can be obtained, and on what terms. Alternative routes may be devised.

Crerar Returns To Take Command

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE CANADIANS IN HOLLAND (CP)—Lt.-Gen Crear, reported recovered from illness in England, is expected back at 1st Canadian Army headquarters shortly and will direct the final phases of the Schelde battle—the fight to open the port of Antwerp which is one of the most important western front operations.

The army commander has been in England since late September, when he was advised by doctors to enter hospital for treatment of an intestinal infection. Now he is reported fit again.

Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, commander of the 2nd Canadian Corps, who acted as army commander during Gen. Crerar's absence, will resume the corps command. He was in command when the Schelde battle opened with the Leopold Canal action, during the landing on the Schelde pocket and the attack north of Antwerp.

Roosevelt to Speak In Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt will deliver a major campaign speech in Chicago sometime after his Friday appearance in Philadelphia's Shibe Park.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced the Chicago speech today, but told reporters he did not have the date. However, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago has announced a big Democratic rally for that city next Saturday, the day after the President's Philadelphia speech.

Early did not make any reference to other appearances by the President, but both Boston and Cleveland are regarded as likely appearance spots for the President.

All-Canadian Squadrons Being Formed in India

MONTREAL (CP)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill, air officer commanding the R.A.F. Transport Command, said today in a press interview that two all-Canadian squadrons for transport action against the Japanese in Burma and other Far Eastern theatres were being formed in India.

Dominion Brings Exciting Sea Story

The unsung heroes who keep our waters clear of sunken enemy mines is the subject of Paramount's exciting action-romance story, "Minesweeper," which opened today at the Dominion Theatre.

Based on the preparation of men for the navy's hazardous and heroic work of mine disposal, the film had the aid and permission of naval authorities. All the non-confidential training procedure which goes into the making of a first-class navy man was photographed.

The film tells a dramatic story of a naval lieutenant (Richard Arlen) who gets into difficulties with a group of gamblers. Faced with the prospect of losing his rank, he deserts only to re-enlist under a false name after Pearl Harbor. As a gunner's mate aboard a minesweeper, he discovers that his buddy, Russell Hayden, is also his rival for the affections of Jean Parker.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

Pheasant shooting scenes in "Summer Storm," the thrilling love-murder drama now playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, were filmed in Mexico, because at the time the picture was made, the pheasant season was closed in California.

George Sanders and Edward Everett Horton were both supposed to shoot pheasant, according to the script, but when the company reached the hunting grounds, Director Douglas Sirk discovered that Horton not only was not a good marksman, but that he had an antipathy for killing anything, especially birds.

Feeling that Horton's dislike for killing would be quite in character for his role of the dissolute Count Volsky, Sirk changed the script so that Horton was supposed to miss all the birds he shot at.

Consequently, while crack shot George Sanders bagged his limit in a short time, Horton followed him around just shooting blanks.

RIO THEATRE

Patricia Morison seems headed for honors as Hollywood's favorite outdoor girl. In "Untamed," she share honors with Ray Milland and Akim Tamiroff in a drama of the untamed Northwest. Now, for "Rangers of Fortune," which is now at the Rio Theatre, she is romantically teamed with Fred MacMurray in an exciting drama of the Texas frontier.

ATLAS THEATRE

When Jimmy Cagney fans a revolver, shoots from the saddle or pumps bullets down some dark alley on the screen—that's acting.

It is a curious thing that Cagney, who now is extending his field of outlawry in "Frisco Kid," the epic of the six-shooters that Warner Bros. are bringing back today at the Atlas Theatre, should have recorded his greatest achievements in tough guy roles.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Seven persons died and five others were injured Monday when a flash fire swept through the third and fourth floors of a building housing the Cincinnati Pencil Company in the heart of Cincinnati.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Alan Marshal's just fooling when he talks!

Possessor of one of the most charming English accents on the screen, Marshal has never been to England!

It all came out on the set of M-G-M's "The White Cliffs of Dover," now at the Capitol Theatre, when young Peter Lawford, son of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Sidney Lawford of the British army and Lady Lawford, commented on Marshal's perfect accent.

At the time, Marshal was telling of his first Broadway role as the young English boy at the age of 15, with Eva LeGallienne and Basil Rathbone in "The Swan."

"When were you abroad last?" asked Lawford.

"Abroad?" smiled Marshal, "I came to America from Australia when I was four and have never been away!"

CADET THEATRE

Because of appeals voiced by Irene Dunne's fans, the star sings in "A Guy Named Joe," new M-G-M film now at the Cadet Theatre. . ., the first time she has sung on the screen since "Love Affair."

She has chosen the haunting old favorite, "I'll Get By," a tune written by Roy Turk and Fred Ahlert and made famous throughout the country by musical groups.

YORK THEATRE

Cary Grant and Jean Arthur in their first co-starring venture, are playing at the York Theatre, where Columbia's new Howard Hawks production, "Only Angels Have Wings," is screened for the first time before a distinguished first night audience. Richard Barthelmess, in his first film role in three years, Rita Hayworth and Thomas Mitchell head the supporting cast which includes Noah Beery Jr., Sig Ruman, Allyn Joslyn and Victor Kilian. "Only Angels Have Wings" is said to combine tropical romance in South America with the adventures and thrills to be found in dangerous mountain flying in the rains and fogs of the Andes

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

SAGA OF DEVOTION

THE LONGER I live the more I marvel at human nature and its inconsistencies.

Here at home, you hear people grumbling because it is necessary to have another ration book.

Yet on the other side of the Atlantic are people on rations of almost semi-starvation proportions who cheerfully submit to even more stringent limitations in order to help someone less fortunate.

Here, there are some who even have to be importuned to buy Victory Bonds—happily only a comparative few—instead of welcoming the opportunity.

Needless to say, such people are usually those whom the war hasn't touched closely—either their heads or their hearts.

DRAMATIC RECORD

I CAN'T HELP feeling sorry for such people. For they stand out with horrible clarity in a world where epic sacrifice and epic endurance is almost commonplace.

Every day we hear heart-stirring stories of heroes and heroines who lay down their lives that others might live.

Of Canadian boys facing unbelievable risks to rescue a fallen "buddy"; of nurses and others toiling for hours on end to rescue patients engulfed in the debris caused by bombing.

What I consider one of the most dramatic of the many dramatic records of the war was told in a recent issue of the Washington Post.

It was an American saga, but it might just as well have been Canadian, for its humanitarianism is of the universal type.

BREATHED LIFE INTO HIM

WHILE ON A U.S. Army Air Force mission in the Tibetan mountains, a Lieut. Robert Wesselhoeft, Jr., was stricken with infantile paralysis.

This made it impossible for him to breathe. So for 14 days his Air Force companions, aided by six Chinese, took turns at keeping him alive through artificial respiration.

Unceasingly, they pumped breath into his body, 22 times a minute, day and night.

Then, for three days, they carried him over nearly impassable streams and mountains to a rescue plane.

But the plane had to be remodeled to carry him. And a runway had to be built to enable it to take off.

They did it. And all the while the artificial respiration went on without stopping.

HALF WAY AROUND WORLD

EVEN IN THE plane which took him to Calcutta, on the first lap of his journey, the pilot had to keep on helping him to breathe.

Finally he reached Washington, brought half way around the world by comrades whose devotion kept the breath of life astir in him.

One can only hope that such epic devotion will be rewarded by his complete recovery.

For I'm sure that the memory of what his "buddies" did will be a sheet-anchor to which he will cling in the grim days ahead.

Such a moving story inspires us with a new faith, a new awareness of the heights to which men will rise under the impulse of comradeship born of the war.

VALUE OF A SINGLE LIFE

ITS MOST ARRESTING implication is its apparent incongruity. That men who are in the midst of a conflict involving murder on a mass scale should so expend themselves to save a single life.

To me, it proclaims one great truth: That war with all its beastliness cannot kill the divine spark of compassion in any man who is innately decent.

It should allay the fears of those at home who are troubled as to the effect the act of killing will have upon their boys.

As the Post says editorially:

"They kill, to be sure. But they kill impersonally the instruments of a tyranny which would negate the value and the dignity of men as human entities.

"Even in war, they have forgotten nothing of humanity or of their respect for the individual as something more than a mere unit of the state. Here is an expression of their fundamental faith."

So let us, in return, proclaim our fundamental faith in our men who are on the battle front by subscribing to the Seventh Victory Loan to the limit. It is the very least we can do.

Famed Russ General Seen in Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Veteran of the historic defence of Stalingrad and one of Russia's famous Cossack generals, Maj.-Gen. T. A. Shvedkov passed through Edmonton today en route to Moscow. Severely wounded in the face in the Stalingrad fighting, he has been in the Walter Reed Hospital at Washington, D.C., for several months.

When reporters sought an interview the general replied through an interpreter he did not speak English and that he was not feeling well. He made numerous purchases of tobacco, playing cards and a pipe, and several packages of gum prior to his departure.

The Russian party is headed by V. A. Sergeev, Deputy People's Commissar for Foreign Trade. He was head of the Soviet delegation to the recent U.N.R.R.A. conference in Montreal.

Churchill to Report On Moscow Talks

LONDON (CP-Reuter)—Prime Minister Churchill will make a "shortish statement" Friday in the Commons about his recent talks with Premier Stalin in Moscow.

He so informed the House after he had received a tremendous ovation on his first appearance since the Moscow talks. He added he hoped his statement would not lead to a debate.

"But I would like to make a statement which in a way would be supplementary to what I said the last time and bring a few matters into it on which the House should be informed," Mr. Churchill said.

When John McGovern, Labor, suggested the Prime Minister was postponing his statement for lack of something to say, Mr. Churchill retorted:

"On the contrary, I am considering how I can best impart the greatest amount of information without committing an indiscretion in any direction or encroaching on controversial matters."

Utilities Down

TORONTO (CP)—Prices improved and the trading volume increased in the final period of today's Toronto exchange market. The market was still down for the day however despite the late gains.

Losses predominated in the late action for the utilities.

Servicemen From Saskatchewan Vote

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan members of Canada's armed forces serving in Canada outside of this province and in Newfoundland will start voting Wednesday for a representative in the provincial legislature, one of three to be elected as services representatives.

Polls will close Friday in this area—No. 3—and ballots will be counted at Regina court house starting Nov. 7.

Voting is already under way in area No. 1, which includes Great Britain, Iceland and countries in northern Europe where Canadians are serving, and in No. 2 area, countries bordering on the Mediterranean.

Fifty-one candidates were nominated in the three areas, 33 from army units, 16 from the R.C.A.F. and two from the navy.

"It's no burden...
It's my brother!"

...the stranger seeing the lad carrying a little one on his back, said: "That's a heavy burden for you, my son." And the boy answered: "It's no burden...it's my brother."

To invest in victory is no burden. We are not asked to bear the heat and horror of the fray. That is being borne valiantly by our brothers, our sons, our husbands, over there.

We, perhaps, can bring them home a little sooner. An extra bond this time may save an extra hour of bloodshed.

Buy more bonds this time than ever before and hold them . . . carry them . . . no burden, surely . . . until the end.
